Agriculture Outlook Is Good for Eastern N. Y.

Cut Costs Is Advice At Meeting

Federal Aid Not Answer to Gains

The long-run outlook for efficient farms on productive land in eastern New York is "very good," Dean W. I. Myers of the New York State College of Agriculture, Cornell University, told 500 farmers, fruit growers, wives and friends this morning at the 40th annual Hudson valley meeting of the New York State Horticultural Society.

He spoke late this morning on the second day of the three-day annual meeting which ends at noon Friday.

Other speakers this morning were Benjamin Dominick of Cornell, who spoke on what is happening in the apple market, and R. Sam Dillon of Hancock, Md., one of the largest fruit growers in the eastern part of the United States, who described how fruit was grown and sold in Maryland.

Competitions Held

Competitions in pie baking and demonstrations were in progress this morning with a large group of 4-H Club members from 10 eastern counties participating. Competitions in fruit and vegetable judging for Future Farmers of America were also being held.

The largest crowds since the meeting opened Wednesday morning poured through the drill shed of the state armory on Manor avenue to examine exhibits in some 60-odd booths, including an airplane used in dusting crops, a new automatic bagging machine and a unit for suppression of hail.

Praises Colleges

Dean Myers, who heads the Advisory Council to Secretary of Agriculture Benson and is nationally known for his work on farm credit, said that farmers had the services of one of the best agricultural colleges, one of the best extension services and some of the strongest cooperatives in the United States.

"By hard, intelligent work eastern New York farmers can reduce costs, improve quality and markets and earn a rising standard of living fairly related to that of other economic groups."

Sees 'Modest Improvement'

He said the general trend of New York farm prices was similar to that of the United States and in 1956 averaged three per cent above 1955. December alone showed a 10 per cent increase from a year ago. A "further modest improvement can be expected in 1957."

Farmers, however, face prospects of higher costs for tractors, machinery and labor and will be in a continuing, though less severe, squeeze, he said. Improvement will be gradual but irregular.

Better Milk Prices

Pool prices for milk, the state's most important farm product, will be up about 25 cents a hundredweight for the first half of 1957 compared with 1956, and perhaps 10 cents in the last half. This will be about equal to 1953 prices, but substantially better than 1954-56.

Poultrymen are in a severe squeeze due to over-production and low prices, he pointed out. However, if fewer pullets are raised, as seems probable, laying flocks will be reduced and better prices result in the last half of the year.

He said there was excellent demand for fruits and vegetables of high quality.

Dean Myers explained that

Eisenhower Would Help Flow of Refugees Here

Washington, Jan. 31 (AP)—President Eisenhower today asked changes in the immigration laws so it will be easier to give haven to refugees "who have fled or in the future flee" from Communist tyranny.

Would Revise Law

In a 2,000-word special message to Congress, the President called also for general revisions of the law to allow about 65,000 more immigrants to come to this country each year. The present annual quota is 154,857 and is based on the 1920 census. Eisenhower asked quotas based on the 1950 population census.

Eisenhower also called for a redistribution of the immigration quota "in proportion to the actual immigration" from 1924 through July 1, 1955.

An effect of this would be to increase the number of southern Europeans and Mediterranean peoples permitted to emigrate to the United States.

This is because the number of immigrants from that area has been greater in recent years than in the earlier period on which quotas are now based.

Should Pool Quota

Eisenhower said, too, that Congress should pool the unused quota numbers for Europe, Africa, Asia and the Pacific area. These would then be available on a first come, first served basis without regard to where a person was born.

This similarly would open the way for admittance of additional southern Europeans since currently the unused quotas have been those of northern European countries.

The President said "mortgages" on quotas should be eliminated. These mortgages came about from special cases where immigrants were permitted on the basis of their being counted against their country's quota of future years.

Further, Eisenhower said, provisions should be made for the annual admission of orphans since "there are many Americans eager to adopt children from abroad."

Promise of Haven

A number of other administrative and technical changes were requested.

The President's request for easing of the way for refugees was tied directly to last fall's revolt in Hungary. But in effect it held out an implicit promise of haven for any other people who may rise up against Red rules.

Speaking of the Hungarian freedom fighters, Eisenhower told the legislators:

"Their opposition to Communist tyranny is evident of a growing resistance throughout the world. Our position of world leadership demands that, in partnership with the other nations of the free world, we be in a position to grant that asylum."

Favors Two Steps

Specifically, as to refugees, Eisenhower said, Congress should do two things:

1. Authorize the attorney general to parole into the United States persons "who have fled or in the future flee from Communist persecution and tyranny." He said this would be a temporary parole under conditions prescribed by the attorney general for escapees selected by the secretary of state. The number could not exceed in any one year the average number of aliens admitted above quotas by Congress over the past eight years.

2. Permit the attorney general to let aliens paroled into the United States remain as permanent residents if they want to. Congress would have a veto on any case.

Measure Is Introduced At Albany

Action Opens Way For Start in '57

State Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson, of Woodstock, reported introduction of a bill at Albany today, which will open the way for construction of a by-pass route connecting routes 209 and 9W and the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge road.

The route is one discussed here recently by local officials and state highway engineers as one of the major steps in relieving the city of heavy traffic congestion.

Two Plans Explained

Kurt G. Rauer, district public works engineer, stationed at Poughkeepsie, late last year at a meeting with Mayor Frederick H. Stang and others described two plans under consideration for the by-pass route.

Both would start at Hurley near the Hurley Hotel and extend generally toward a point where Route 9W and the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge road will intersect.

The one plan, known tentatively as the "west plan" would bring the by-pass west of the

KENNETH L. WILSON

New York State Thruway in the area of the Route 28 interchange. The other plan would bring the road east of the thruway closer to the proposed spur which would connect Albany avenue and the thruway interchange in conjunction with the city's arterial route system.

Difference in Routes

The west plan would bring the by-pass over Route 28 at a point between the Sunset Drive-in Theater and the Route 28 thruway overpass. The east plan would bring the road over 28 at a point between the overpass and the Esopus creek bridge.

Both plans provide for connecting the by-pass with Route 28 as well as with Route 9W and the bridge road.

Leaves Way Open

The bill, as introduced by Assemblyman Wilson, contains no specific description of the by-pass. It provides in general terms that the road should start "at a point to be determined by the superintendent of public works," along Route 209 in Hurley, and extend "northeasterly and easterly on a new location to a point to be determined by the superintendent of public works" on Route 9W.

It was necessary also in the measure to provide for transferring the present section of 209

Hercules Sales Reach New High in Past Year

Hercules Powder Company in its 1956 report to stockholders showed an all-time high of $235,903,000 in net sales and operating revenues, an increase of 4 per cent over last year. Sales for 1955 were $226,651,000.

There are 24 Hercules plants throughout the nation, one at Port Ewen, which has been operated by the firm since 1921, and presently employs 776 men and women from Kingston and surrounding area.

During the World War 2 period, the local explosives installation employed as high as 1,300 and won practically all of the government awards for high production.

Edward K. Lefren of 75 Florence street is works manager at Port Ewen.

Net income after all charges the company's annual report says was $17,703,000, equal to $2.13 a share of common stock. This represents a decline from 1955 when net income totaled $19,013,000, equal to $2.30 a share of common stock.

Common dividends were $1.10 a share, the same as last year.

Hercules spent approximately $34,500,000 during 1956 for new facilities. This expansion program was about 2½ times the amount spent for new facilities in 1955, and was 50 per cent greater than the construction expenditure in any previous year in the company's history.

Expenditures for research as well as for construction reached all-time high levels. Hercules reported $10,504,000 spent in 1956 for research.

A. E. Forster, president and chairman of the board of Hercules, said in his letter to stockholders that: "As in many other segments of industry, however, prices did not keep pace with increases in wages and in costs of materials and services purchased."

11,365 Are Employed

Hercules employed an average of 11,365 people during the year in its commercial operations. Mr. Forster said in his letter that with total wage and salary costs of $70,371,000, average wage and salary costs increased 6 per cent over 1955.

Dulles Hopes to Ease Tension in Saud Talk

Washington, Jan. 31 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles talked with King Saud today, adding his voice to President Eisenhower's in a bid for the Saudi Arabian Monarch's help in easing the mideast crisis.

Dulles and four aides drove to Blair House, where Saud is staying during a three-day state visit, in a chill drizzle. Eisenhower welcomed Saud to Washington yesterday and the two later talked privately at some length.

With Dulles were Under Secretary of State Herbert Hoover, Jr., Asst. Secretary of Mideast Affairs William Roundtree, U. S. Ambassador to Saudi Arabia George Wadsworth and former Rep. James P. Richards, South Carolina Democrat who is heading a Mideast mission for Eisenhower.

Among other things, U. S. officials seek Saud's help for early agreement between Egypt and the nations which use the Suez Canal on its operation after reopening expected in March.

An hour before Dulles' arrival, Saud had laid a wreath at the tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington National Cemetery across the Potomac River from Washington. He did it amid light snow, which began to melt in the warming temperature and subsequent rain.

The busy program outlined for the Saudi Arabian monarch carried forward the red carpet treatment of a state visit which characterized his arrival here yesterday.

Eisenhower personally met him at the airport and accompanied him to the guest house where he is staying across Pennsylvania avenue from the White House.

Last night Eisenhower gave a formal dinner in his honor at the White House. The guest list of 58 men included 12 banking and oil company executives. Also present were congressional leaders, ambassadors of the Arab countries and 16 members of the party which accompanied Saud here.

Eisenhower received Saud in his office for a private 10-minute talk yesterday afternoon. They then joined a group of officials of both countries in the cabinet room for 90 minutes of discussion. Afterward the President and the King returned to Eisenhower's office for a second private discussion with only an interpreter present.

Two Are Pressed To End Standoff

United Nations, N. Y., Jan. 31 (AP)—The United States and Canada hopefully pressed Israel and Egypt today to accept a two-phase plan to end the standoff in the Sinai desert.

The proposal, which may be submitted to General Assembly late today, was slated to take the form of twin resolutions. They would call for:

1. Israel's immediate withdrawal of all her forces from the Aqaba coast and the Gaza strip, the only territories she still occupies outside the 1949 armistice line.

2. Posting of UN Emergency Force (UNEF) units on both sides of the Israeli-Egyptian armistice line, including the Gaza strip, and along Egypt's Gulf of Aqaba coast until peace is stabilized. This move would require the consent of both Israel and Egypt.

Church Council Maps Bingo Drive

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 31 (AP)—The State Council of Churches has voted to wage a county-by-county fight against legalization of bingo in New York state.

The action came yesterday at the annual meeting of the Protestant group, which claims 1½ million members.

Among those in attendance was the Rev. H. Victor Kane of Syracuse, former pastor of the First Baptist Church of Kingston.

The amendment has been approved by one legislature. If second passage is given at the current session, the measure would go before voters for a final decision in November.

The council reelected the Rev. Davis S. Macinnes of Syracuse as president.

Other officers chosen were:

Vice presidents; A. W. Henshaw; Schenectady; the Rev. Julius W. Kuck, Buffalo; Bishop W. Earl Ledden, Syracuse; the Rev. J. A. G. Moore, Rochester; Mrs. Olin D. Mowry, Minnetto; the Rt. Rev. Malcolm E. Peabody, Syracuse; the Rev. Dutton S. Peterson, Odessa; Leland D. Smith, Brasher Falls; and Prof. Robert D. Larsson, Potsdam.

Secretary, the Rev. Bruce Roberts, Syracuse; treasurer, F. H. Biederstedt, Syracuse.

Ike Accepts Resignation Of Reed From High Court

Washington, Jan. 31 (AP)—President Eisenhower today accepted the resignation of Supreme Court Justice Stanley Reed, effective Feb. 25.

Reed, 72, is a Democrat. He has served on the highest judicial tribunal 19 years.

The naming of his successor will be Eisenhower's fourth appointee on the Supreme Court.

Eisenhower's other appointees are Chief Justice Warren and Associate Justices Harlan and Brennan.

The White House said it had nothing to announce at this time regarding a successor.

Reed turned in a letter of resignation, dated today, saying he wished to retire from active service.

He is taking advantage of a provision of law which allows him to retire at full pay and subject to call for occasional service on the court if this is desired.

The White House indicated that Reed might have let the President know his intentions in advance of submission of the letter. That may have taken place at a White House reception honoring the Supreme Court on Tuesday night.

Eisenhower, in a letter to Reed, said he was taking the opportunity "to tender my congratulations on your long and splendid record in public service."

He also praised Reed's "dedication and devotion that are so much a part of your reputation."

Reed, appointed by President Roosevelt, took his seat on the

YMCA Serving Community Over 90-Year Span Here

This is National YMCA Week and the occasion recalls 90 years of activity by the Young Men's Christian Association here.

Last year, 162,000 entered the building at Broadway and Pine Grove avenue, according to Louis Schafer, general secretary, who pointed to its varied program for all age groups.

There are over 1,000 members most of whom are active, he said, taking part in the scheduled events under his direction and that of Frank Robello, youth secretary, and a physical director.

Twenty-one leading business and professional men serve on the board of directors; 22 young men and women act as volunteers for various projects and 14 people are employed throughout the building in addition to the departmental staff.

William Irland, who resigned the physical director post last year, is to be replaced in the near future.

"The YMCA cooperates with all, regardless of race, creed or color," Secretary Schafer said.

"Besides the scheduled program for all ages of boys above 8 years of age," he remarked, "there were 62 different groups that used the Y facilities and meeting rooms last year, either weekly, bi-monthly or monthly."

Mr. Schafer stressed that 14 of these groups came from the outlying areas of Ulster county.

Organized in 1866

The first YMCA was organized here in 1866 in rooms above the George B. Merritt store on Fair street, Mr. Schafer said.

Years later one was formed in the then Rondout section of the city, and promoted its own programs independently until August 19 1896.

At a special meeting the two groups consolidated and voted on locating somewhere near the West Shore railroad in midtown.

The present property was purchased on September 18, 1898 and in the fall of 1899 the organization moved into its new gymnasium on Pine Grove avenue, which was attached to a brick building on the corner of Broadway.

In March 1911, it was decided to expand and take in the whole corner, offering bigger and better facilities for a growing organization. Following completion of building plans and a financial campaign the cornerstone was laid in 1912 for the present YMCA.

Institute Program

On September 17, 1912, these officers were elected to promote the Y program: Harry H. Flemming, former surrogate of Ulster county, president; Frank Matthews, vice president; A. D. Rose, treasurer; C. R. O'Connor, secretary and George D. Beckwith, general secretary.

"The building today houses one of the largest memberships since its inception," Mr. Schafer said. "The program is enlarged and with the many community groups using the building for meetings and gatherings three or four nights each week there are many occasions when every room in the building is occupied.

Outgrowing Quarters

The gymnasium, now 59 years old, hums with activity, and the newer front red brick portion of the Y, 45 years old, is in service continuously.

"We are really outgrowing our quarters," Secretary Schafer said, "but are carrying on, trying to satisfy everybody, offering a full program despite the handicap."

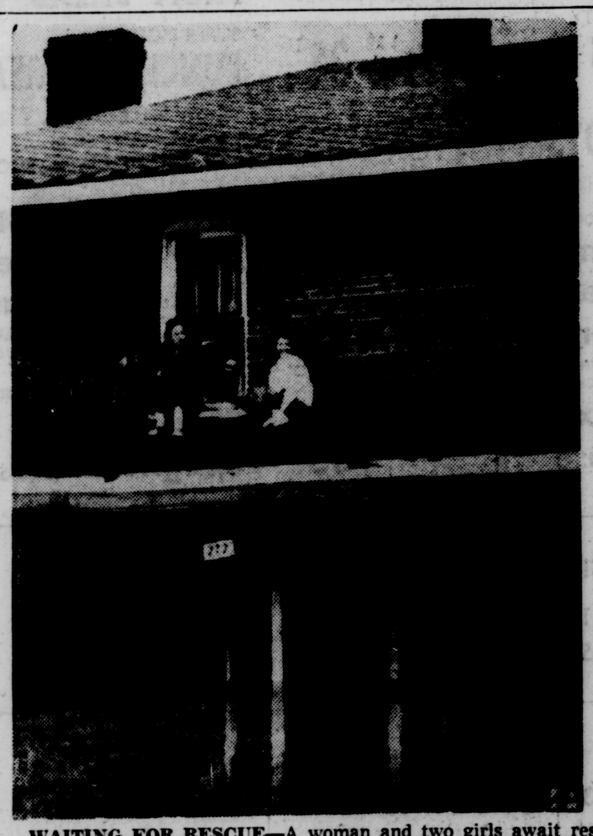

He pointed out that "The YMCA is a vital force in the community. Its trained staff endeavors to offer the influences that go for building character in youth, healthy bodies and good morals so essential in making God-fearing, good Americans for tomorrow."

Mt. Marion Park Seeks Home Mail Delivery Service

Petitions are being circulated this week in Mt. Marion Park seeking door to door mail delivery for about 239 home owners in the park development.

According to Saugerties Town Supervisor Peter M. Williams, the completed petitions will be filed with the Town Board as soon as a majority of the home owners have signed.

The Town Board will probably approve the request and forward the information to the Post Office Department, Supervisor Williams said.

Record 26,770 Auto Licenses In County Issued for 1957

Passenger cars not displaying the 1957 plates will run foul of the law after midnight today when the 1956 licenses expire.

With one more day to go for issuance of new plates before the deadline, County Clerk Lawrence D. Craft this morning jubilantly reported 26,770 passenger car licenses had been issued.

This is a record and I and the staff at the Motor Vehicle Bureau office fully appreciate the cooperation given our office through the early application for renewals," County Clerk Craft said. "The public cooperated fully with us in our plea for early application and we experienced little difficulty throughout the period. The waiting line was never to long and delays were principally due to errors on application blanks or errors on the FS-1 insurance certificates," he said.

This was the first year that insurance certificates were required before a license could be issued and Craft said about 30 per cent of the applicants presented insurance certificates which were in error. In many instances the certificates contained the serial number instead of the required engine number, and corrections had to be made by the insurance agency.

Craft pointed out that the

Returns From Mothers' March Reach $4,150 Report Reveals

Incomplete returns showed a total of $4,150 collected during the Mothers' March on Polio held Wednesday evening in the city's 13 wards, it was reported today by William A. Kelly, general chairman of the Ulster County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Mr. Kelly said "a couple wards have not reported their returns as yet but we are highly gratified over the total collected so far."

Reports from the eight area towns which also conducted the march last night will not be available for a few days, he said. Towns listed with the city for solicitation were Shandaken, Ulster, Esopus, Lloyd, Saugerties, Wawarsing, Rosendale and Kingston.

Mr. Kelly praised Mrs. Stanley Van Wagenen, chairman of the project, for "her efficient organization of the project," and the captains and volunteer workers.

"We are deeply appreciative of the generosity extended the Mothers' March on Polio, and I want to highly commend Mrs. Van Wagenen and all of the mothers for a job extremely well done," Mr. Kelly said.

Those who were not contacted last night, or not at home during the two-hour solicitation may send their contributions to Mothers' March Uptown Post Office, Mr. Kelly said.

P-TA Council Will Receive Charter February 25th

An explanation of the work of P-TA Councils and discussion of plans for presenting the Kingston Council with its national charter next month featured this week's meeting of the P-TA Council.

Mrs. Ruth Meek, district director of the national and state Congress of Parents and Teachers, was the guest speaker.

It was voted to grant one life membership during the Feb. 25 meeting following the recommendation of a committee including Dr. Earl Soper, superintendent of schools; Mrs. Raymond Gilkey, president; Gerald Shampo, vice-president and Mrs. Howard Irvis, secretary-treasurer.

A nominating committee of three members also was chosen, including M. Clifford Miller, as chairman; Mrs. Howard Irvis and Mrs. Ivan Massell.

Founder's Day Program

Another feature of the February meeting will be a Founder's Day program in honor of the 60th anniversary of both the National and N. Y. State Congresses. A speaker from the State Congress of Parents and Teachers will be present.

The life membership award will be presented to some person from the community who has served youth over and beyond the call of his work. The $25 gift money, pledged in his name, will go either to the Jenkins Memorial Scholarship or to the Student Loan Fund.

Mrs. Meek, who will present the national charter to the local P-TA Council and to any local unit ready by that time, also explained what an honorary life membership means during this week's session.

She said that the grants are given by units and Councils to some worthy person who has contributed to or been interested in the well-being of children and youth in the community. She added that the recipient does not necessarily have to be a P-TA member and that he will receive a pin and honorary card and the $25 gift in his name for use in either of the two funds.

Funds Explained

It was explained that the Student Loan is a continually roating fund which supplies loans to graduates of New York State high school who need money to complete their higher education. The maximum amount to be loaned is $1.200, not more than $600 in any one year at two per cent interest.

The Jenkins scholarships are awarded to graduates of New York state high schools who wish to become elementary teachers. The only requirements for receiving the $1,200 scholarships, to be paid in four annual installments of $300, are that the student must attend an accredited teacher's college and guarantee to teach two years as an elementary teacher in New York state.

Projects Listed

Mrs. Meek listed many of the activities and projects that other P-TA Councils within her district are doing, including school and community relations, P-TA Councils interpret school philosophy and methods to the community, cooperate in assignments from the superintendent and with teachers' association and encourage friendly relations with the school boards.

Several ideas for raising funds were discussed during a business meeting led by Mrs. Gilkey. It was voted to hold a spring square dance with details in charge of a committee including Mrs. William Hynes, Benjamin Schecter, Keron O'Neil and M. Clifford Miller. Proceeds will go to the Jenkins scholarship or Student Loan Fund and the Council's budget of operating expenses.

Disappearance Solved

Charleston, W. Va. (AP)—A cherished fraternity pin, thought lost forever, has been found. Police discovered the pin in the possession of a man arrested for questioning in a duel. Police Lt. Jesse G. Workman said the pin, handed down from one Sigma Chi president to another at West Virginia University, seemed out of place with the man's other belongings. They were a raccoon's foot, three pocket knives, four cigars, a key case and pocket watch, a change purse and one button.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 31 (AP)—New York state's compulsory programs for insurance and safety-inspection of motor vehicles go into effect tomorrow.

All motor vehicles registered in the state must be covered by liability insurance—a minimum of $10,000-$20,000 for personal injuries and $5,000 for property damage.

From tomorrow to next Jan. 1, all vehicles more than four years old must be given safety inspections covering brakes, lights, steering, and wheel alignment.

The February inspections will be for 1938 and previous model-years.

Washington, Jan. 31 (AP)—New York representatives voted this way yesterday on President Eisenhower's Middle East program:

Republicans — For: Becker, Cole, Coudert, Derounian, Dooley, Dorn, Fino, Gwinn, Kearney, Keating, Kilburn, Latham, Miller, Ostertag, Pillon, Radwan, Ray, Riehlman, St. George, Taber, Taylor, Wainright and Wharton. Against: Bosch, Reed.

Democrats—For: Anfuso, Celler, Delaney, Dollinger, Farbstein, Healey, Holtzman, Kelly, Keogh, O'Brien, Powell, Rooney, Teller and Zelenko. Against: Multer. Paired for: Buckley.

Amendment Accepted

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 31 (AP)—The Public Service Commission said today it had accepted a tariff amendment from the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad designed to cancel some special reduced fare rates and to increase others. Under the tariff, effective Feb. 17, the railroad will cancel its round-trip, 30-day limit parlor-car fares. It also will drop its special half-price Saturday, Sunday and weekend excursion fares for employes. The road was authorized to make a five per cent boost in round-trip, 30-day-limit coach fares, with a minimum one-way fare of 50 cents.

Petition Against Tito Visit Is Still Circulated

Washington, Jan. 31 (AP) — Sponsors of a congressional petition to head off a visit by Yugoslav President Tito still sought signatures today despite President Eisenhower's remark that he considered such visits useful.

Nor did indications from Belgrade that Tito may not be coming seem to deter sponsors of the petition, now signed by some 160 House members.

Rep. McDonough (R-Calif.), who started circulating the petition, said it will be sent to the White House, perhaps after a delay to collect more signatures.

McDonough said in an interview it is important to distinguish between willingness to talk to a leader of a government whose policies are disapproved by Americans, and making such a person an official guest of the country.

Eisenhower said at his news conference yesterday "you don't promote the cause of peace by talking only to people with whom you agree." He said "you have got to meet face to face the people with whom you disagree at times, to determine whether or not there is a way of working out the differences and reaching a better understanding."

McDonough commented that while he could "see the philosophy in the President's statement," he was not informed that Tito had asked to come here for any such purposes, but rather that the State Department had initiated a move "to make him the guest of the nation."

"Sometimes these discussions are better held on neutral ground," McDonough said.

Full, Regular Reports Are Urged From Authorities

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 31 (AP)—The staff of a state commission said today that public authorities should be compelled to report fully and regularly on their finances and operations.

"Autonomy (self-government) does not connote secrecy," the report said. "If anything, the more autonomous the public agency the more its operations and finances should be an open book."

The recommendation was contained in the final report made by the staff of the temporary state commission on coordination of state activities, known as the "Little Hoover" commission.

In earlier reports, the commission recommended more direct governmental control and tighter purse strings for authorities.

The chairman, Republican Sen. William S. Hults of Port Washington, said the commission had reviewed the staff report and invited discussion.

Today's study dealt mainly with price policies of public authorities and the methods of insuring responsible performance of authorities.

The staff proposed that this data be required regularly from public authorities:

1. An annual report of operations and finances, in a form prescribed by the state comptroller.
2. Annual budgetary information, in a form prescribed by the state budget director.
3. Copies of every audit of accounts other than those made by the comptroller.
4. Audit of authority accounts by the comptroller at least once every five years.
5. Data on rates, revenues, sources of revenue and contracts.
6. The plan of personnel administration, if the authority is not under the civil service law.

The staff report noted a trend toward multi-purpose authorities that pool revenue from various projects to finance improvements.

The report said such authorities would grow as long as they undertake only projects that can be "ultimately self-sustaining and productive of surplus revenues."

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, JANUARY 31, 1957

THE THREAT WITHIN

Stories about New York's confessed "mad bomber," now safely in custody, disclose the striking ease with which he was able to plant his bombs in various public places. Incidents of this kind demonstrate that a determined man can deposit explosives almost anywhere without detection.

Most of the public's thought about atomic attack on the United States has pictured such attack as by coming by plane or guided missile. Congress has given some attention to the danger of nuclear attack from within, but the problem has not yet been dealt with strongly. Since 1955 there has been on the statute books a law providing a very substantial reward for the detection of any effort to bring nuclear materials into this country or to make atomic weapons illegally. That is good, but it is not good enough.

Operating behind a veil of diplomatic immunity, enemy agents could bring the necessary parts of an atomic bomb into this country without much fear of detection. It would then not be much of a trick for them to assemble the bomb—perhaps several bombs — for use at a time of their choosing. Refusal to think about this grizzly picture will not remove the possibility.

No system of detection can be an absolute. It would certainly be wise, however, to plug obvious holes in our protective wall. One of these is the system of diplomatic immunity mentioned above. Why should we not make agreements with other nations, and through the United Nations, to permit inspection of diplomatic baggage? This seems like a reasonable step to which other countries, being under the same threat, might readily agree.

COLDER COLD WAR

Those who saw the Geneva summit conference of 1955 as heralding the end of the cold war may have been quite a bit previous. Less than two years after this conference, it appears to have produced no genuine easement of world tensions.

It is questionable as to whether or not there is much meaning in even stating that the cold war actually ended. There is sound sense in not confusing metaphor and analysis, and "freeze" and "thaw" have sometimes been deceptive words in the analysis of and comment about the international situation. At all events, whether or not the cold war did or did not end, there are signs that we might be in for some new and even icier cold war.

In the Middle East, it will not pay Khrushchev and his comrade collaborators big profits to attack France, Great Britain and Israel alone. The Russians can only fight for influence in the Middle East by letting out big and windy blasts at America. There are indications that an anti-American campaign is being stepped up already. It is likely that this will become more intense during the current year.

This fits the needs of the Russians, both in foreign and internal policy. Russia was almost over a barrel, thanks to Hungary and Poland. To get out of this unseemly posture, Khrushchev and the whole Kremlin clique are likely to hate America in public. And this can all be most dangerous. We had best be prepared to face new tensions and possibly new crises.

THE BOMBERS SPEAK

The thunder of great American bombers girdling the civilized world in 45 hours had the sound of triumph in it. This feat was proof that another step had been taken in man's long struggle to conquer his environment. The flight was also, more specifically, a triumph for the United States Air Force. It signalized the Air Force's ability to deliver heavy bombs to any point on the globe and return.

There is another side to this shining coin. If our planes can perform such a feat, there is every reason to believe that the planes of other great powers either can also do it or will be able to do it in the near future.

We must be strong to daunt those who would like to destroy us. Yet each new advance in strength brings with it a corresponding responsibility. Bombers are not toys; they are engines of destruction. The more efficient they become, the greater our challenge to so regulate society that they will never have to be used.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THERE'S MORE THAN POLITICS

Politics ought to be a means not an end. The politician, once he is chosen, ought to attempt to do something more than to serve his own ambitions, to promote his friends or to fight his enemies. It would seem that the weakness of the republican form of government lies in the sacrifice of all other considerations to the perpetuation of political cliques in power with the result that great ends are sacrificed for small means.

To an astonishing degree the prime manipulators of political power are some who came in during the latter days of Roosevelt, who survived during the Truman regime, who expanded and blossomed during the first Eisenhower Administration and who are still on hand. Such political handy-men never run for public office; they never submit themselves to the public's judgment. They achieve success by friendship, by doing favors, by making contracts for favors, and by collecting campaign funds.

Their greatest strength is in knowing many people in all parts of the country and even in other countries and in always engaging in the art of bringing those together who can be useful to each other, even if they are harmful to the country. For instance, a large number of generals in the last war were placed in lucrative, even enriching positions as soon as they got out of the army. Some of them are now so well fixed that they are even powerful in the business and political world. This placement job had to be done by a Wall Street political banker, astute, experienced, hard-boiled, who strengthened his own position by winning the undying gratitude of these distinguished but low salaried generals.

True, these are experienced men whose services are valuable, but the placement problem up at the top is always difficult and the good-fellow who knows how to do it without fuss is worth a great deal in a political organization. He comes to be regarded as an exceedingly wise person and before long it is overlooked that he may be serving some interests of his own.

The 22nd Amendment to the Constitution raised the issue of the 1960 Republican Convention the day Mr. Eisenhower was elected. He cannot succeed himself and these political bankers and their adjutants got busy even before San Francisco looking for a successor. The "Dump Nixon Movement" was an outgrowth of that and its engineers fled from Harold Stassen as soon as they knew that Nixon could not be dumped. However, they would not mind dumping him any time they got the chance, as they would prefer a candidate of their own, one bound to them by friendship and gratitude.

It is a little coterie that plays politics all the time, even in the selection of United States Senators and judges of various courts. It is a group so without principle that while its private interests are ultra-conservative, it unites with so-called liberals and left-wingers, with Democrats or Republicans, with anybody that can be made grateful. It does not require a man to be principled or patriotic; it only requires that he accepts favors and shows his gratitude for them. It works in both parties and if the reader will refresh his memory, he will be astonished at how often he has seen the same influential names during both Republican and Democratic Administrations. To individual Senators and members of Congress this group is important because they can find campaign funds for their favorites or spend money in opposition.

Such persons have, of course, always existed but each one usually belonged to one political party and operated within it. Today, it is not so. The same men like to be in all parties and some of them, I should not be surprised, must have connections among the Communists, although they would surely abhor Marxism if they thought that it might catch up with them.

I have painted the profile of a typically dangerous because hidden political manipulator. How long he can remain hidden depends only upon how long men will be grateful to him for favors done. Sooner or later, someone will loosen up and then all the opportunities and careerists will run for shelter and some will even talk and tell the innards of a cabal that has somehow managed to run the United States for at least a decade, come Republicans, come Democrats.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

SOME EVERYDAY WARNINGS

Yesterday we were talking about abscesses and infections and the fact that blood-poisoning is fairly rare nowadays due to the use of the wonder drugs. Many serious complications can be avoided if we would follow these simple rules.

1. Thoroughly clean every scratch or cut with soap and water. Plain soap and water are much more efficient in preventing infection than even the most powerful antiseptic which may burn and damage the already injured part.

2. Cover a scratch or cut with a clean bandage and leave it in place for a day or two.

3. See your doctor if there is the slightest doubt in your mind as to whether the scratch or cut is serious enough to require professional attention.

4. Never squeeze a boil or pimple. Most of them will dry up and disappear by themselves. If they appear to be getting larger rather than smaller, then see your doctor. Also, never open a boil or pimple yourself—this is a task your physician should do.

5. If there is increase in swelling or red streaks running up the arm or leg, or fever and chills, this is evidence that the infection is spreading.

6. See your doctor if a splinter or other material has penetrated the skin; don't try to get it out yourself.

The main principle underlying the treatment of all surgical infections is to keep it localized to the area where it began and prevent it spreading to other parts of the body. This will be accomplished best if the following measures are applied promptly.

1. The infected part or, if necessary, the patient, should be at complete rest. A patient with an infected hand should not work; someone with an infected foot should not stand or walk.

2. The patient should be encouraged to drink large quantities of water—ten to twelve glasses a day.

3. Warm (not too hot) wet dressings should be applied to the infected area. Plain salt solution or boric acid or epsom salt solutions are good. Avoid ointments.

4. Large doses of the proper antibiotic drug will be prescribed. These must be continued for several days to be most effective.

5. An incision into the infection to let out the pus will be made when necessary.

We must be particularly careful of infections of the upper lip, nose and face because there is a direct connection through a system of veins between these skin areas and the veins within the skull. Infection at the base of the brain may occur as a complication of an improperly treated boil or carbuncle of lip, nose or face.

"I'll Race You to the Other Side"

Washington News

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA) — Fifty-year-old Hugh Meade Alcorn of Hartford, Conn., takes over the toughest political job in the country Feb. 1. That's when he becomes chairman of the Republican National Committee, succeeding Leonard A. Hall of New York.

Alcorn's new job will be to elect a Republican-controlled Congress in 1958. Even the staunchest Republicans admit that isn't easy.

If Mr. Alcorn can't pass that miracle, he can, of course, step down. But if he succeeds, his next job will be to elect Richard Milhouse Nixon as president in 1960.

Incidentally, Vice President Nixon took little part in the selection of Alcorn as GOP national chairman, although Nixon has more interest in who holds this job than any man in town.

Nixon was kept informed of the various moves to make Alcorn head of the party when Hall stepped down.

Nixon's acquaintance with Alcorn was slight, since the two men come from opposite ends of the country — Connecticut and California.

But Nixon had no candidate of his own to oppose Mr. Alcorn.

MEADE ALCORN is actually Len Hall's personal choice for the chairmanship. It was Hall's recommendation which really influenced President Eisenhower's suggestion to the national committee, meeting in Washington after the inauguration, that he "would be very happy" to have Alcorn as chairman.

There was no dissent from this presidential request. In fact, everybody hopped on the bandwagon to second the nomination and make his election unanimous. Nobody else wanted the job badly enough to make a fight for it.

The wisdom of selecting an easterner as national chairman at this particular time is questioned by many political observers. The Republicans did all right in electing congressmen and senators in the east last November. Where they fell down was in the west. A western national chairman, familiar with farm belt conditions, might therefore have been a more logical choice.

WHAT WON THE NOMINATION and election for Alcorn was the job he did under Len Hall as vice chairman in active charge of the committee on arrangements for the Republican national convention in San Francisco last year. That show went off so smoothly that the whole party gave him acclaim. It is a foregone conclusion he could do it again in '60 if he had to.

Behind this national showmanship, however, Alcorn has a real 20-year grounding in practical politics. He was assistant state's attorney for Hartford County, Conn., for seven years and state's attorney for six years more. He was Republican chairman of the town of Suffield, Conn., for five years and ran a successful organization. He became state chairman of the Eisenhower-for-President movement in 1952 and became the state's national committeeman the next year.

Last year he was chairman of his state's delegation at San Francisco. And in the campaign he is given a large part of the credit for electing E. H. May Jr., as GOP congressman from Connecticut's first district, defeating Democrat Thomas J. Dodd.

So he knows what it takes to elect Republican congressmen and that should help him next year.

HE IS STOCKY and of medium height. He is literally a fair-haired boy. He wears horn-rim glasses.

At Dartmouth he was New England low-hurdle champion and a Phi Beta Kappa. Then he went to Yale law school.

Today he is rated a cracker-jack lawyer, and fairly well to do. He is the new type of Eisenhower "new Republican" young state political boss.

He analyzes his own position as the new GOP chairman with a favorite story about a farmer watching a golfer for the first time. The golfer drove into the rough, then got stymied by a tree and caught in a sand trap before he finally got the ball on the green and sank it in the hole.

"My, my, my!" observed the farmer. "Ain't he in an awful fix now."

Wandering Redman

Oceanside, Calif. (AP)—Scientists say that Indian picture writings on rocks in the nearby San Luis Rey Valley strengthen the theory that American Indians migrated to the North American continent from Asia. Dr. J. J. Markey, head of the San Luis Rey Historical Society, said tests made at the University of California at Los Angeles show the symbols in the rocks to be from 400 to 9,000 years of age. Dr. Markey said 60 different symbols have been identified and a score of them indicate an Asiatic origin.

Foes of Mid-East Policies Are Criticized as Partisan

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Jan. 31 — Did Adlai Stevenson really win the last election after all? Judging by the speeches being made these days by certain Democratic Senators, parroting almost exactly the line of argument offered by the Democratic Presidential nominee in the last campaign, one could get the impression that the American people did not approve by an overwhelming vote the peace policies of President Eisenhower.

Captious Criticism

No more bitterly partisan speeches and statements have been made in many a day in the United States Senate and in the hearings before the Senate committees than those which boldly seek to blame the Administration for the precipitate action taken by the British and French governments when, without consulting America, they landed troops in the Suez area. But most of the speech-making is usually accompanied by pious professions of nonpartisanship followed by captious criticism based on picayunish points.

Thus, for example, what sort of public crime is it that news about the Eisenhower doctrine appeared in the press before the committees in Congress were formally advised of it? One reporter got a "scoop" by putting two and two together after reading a very meaningful dispatch from London. He ferreted out the news of the new policy. Thereupon, the administration decided that, rather than let the case be presented in piecemeal fashion, it would be better to outline in general the proposed policy to some members of the press. Promptly, too, as soon as they could be brought together in a conference, the Democratic leaders, Speaker Rayburn and Sen. Lyndon Johnson, were given an outline of the plan by the secretary of state, Rep. Martin and Sen. Knowland, Republican leaders in the House and Senate, were present at the conference.

But if one reads the speeches of criticism, the idea is conveyed that the administration somehow ignored Congress and that, because it didn't happen to have all the details ready for immediate submission to committees—indeed, the committees in the new Congress were not yet organized at the time—a gigantic blunder of some kind was committed.

Sen. Mansfield of Montana, an able Democrat, who doesn't think he is partisan but who betrays his partisanship in a subtle way and sometimes in ways not so subtle, made a lengthy speech in the Senate on Tuesday, in which he said:

"I know of no Senator on this side of the aisle who does not believe the country would be better off under a Democratic President."

Partisanship Charged

Such a statement is not consistent with the lukewarm support given by a certain group of Democratic Senators to the Stevenson-Kefauver ticket. But the mere pronouncement of such a view in a speech on matters of grave concern in foreign policy is a revelation of the true partisanship which dominates many of the Democrats.

The American people heard during the campaign every argument and every point of criticism that now is being leveled at the Administration. Sen. Mansfield says he doesn't see the "urgency" in the Middle-East situation and adds that the danger now referred to by the testimony of the Secretary of State "is discovered by the Administration only a short time after the election results are in and a few days before the new Congress is scheduled to convene."

But a quick look at the files of the newspapers will show that the danger arose in the last week of the election campaign, when the British and French actually landed troops in the Suez area. All this happened before the election, and the American people chose to give a striking vote of confidence at the polls.

House Vote Cited

Sen. Mansfield says America isn't using her influence wisely "when we permit dangerous and largely unnecessary divisions to disrupt our relations with Western Europe." But by what power could Messrs. Eisenhower and Dulles have compelled the British and French cabinets not to intervene in the Suez last October? The word "permit" assumes an authority over the British and French governments which the United States doesn't possess.

The Democrats in the House are not so partisan. Approximately 81 per cent voted for the President's resolution, and 84 per cent of the Republicans did likewise.

The American people want peace, and they trust the President to keep the peace. The voters are not too interested in methods, but only in results, and, if a world war has been prevented and peace is maintained, the voters in 1958 will again support the Administration on this issue at the polls.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Chicago, Jan. 30—I have told you that John L. Lewis has collected more than one thousand five hundred millions of dollars from the consuming public through a tax now temporarily stabilized at forty cents on each ton of coal produced in practically all of the American mines. And that this is not a public trust but a private charity administered by Lewis and his old friend, Josephine Roche, as trustees with absolute power to grant or refuse a pension. Each individual miner must come to this fund in the status of a beggar.

I think you will be surprised when I tell you further that from 1946, when they began to hand over their donations to the fund, starting at the rate of five cents a ton, down to 1954, the mine owners violated the income tax law by subtracting this money from their income as a deductible business expense.

Donations to charity by corporations may not exceed five per cent of their gross income. These donations have far exceeded five per cent. To swear to a false statement in a tax return to obtain a financial advantage is a crime. The Internal Revenue has been a willing accomplice in these crimes because it has refrained from pressing the issue. A man who represented the fund at the Internal Revenue in many official negotiations is willing to testify that a chief counsel during the Democratic regime knowingly permitted this conduct to go unchallenged out of deference to the political power of John L. Lewis. He said the counsel said to him: "Why don't you get Lewis to get Congress to change the law so that these deductions will be legal?"

Accordingly, a law was eased through in 1954, granting deductability to coal operators only, and retroactively at that. It is probably unconstitutional. First it discriminates in favor of one group of employers and against all others. And second, it grants retroactive condonation of crimes knowingly committed and waives recovery of a vast amount of money which the producers owe the treasury. That waiver is not specific, but it is inferential. And that inference is proved by the fact that the Internal Revenue and the Department of Justice have ignored the debt.

The coal producers are not themselves responsible for their good luck in this matter. Lewis is the one who had the influence, and a retroactive enforcement of the plain meaning of the law would have thrown his fund up for grabs. The fact that George Humphrey, secretary of the treasury, was connected with enormous operators in coal would have nothing to do with the "solution."

The basic law provides that contributions cannot be deducted unless each individual worker gets a contractual right to an interest in the fund. No miner has any such right and I have many letters from miners revealing that the bosses of the local unions have absolute power to refuse pensions or "relief" even as charity.

The temptation to shake down a supplicant for the pension of $100 a month need not be emphasized. The graft might go as high as $50 a month or even $75 to the local union bosses. After all, if a miner is 62 years old and an industrial discard, he probably will settle for $25 or $50 if he can't get his hundred. The basic law further provides that contributions by the employer cannot be deducted unless the "plan" has been approved by the Internal Revenue. My informant, who was intimate with all the legal problems of the fund, insists that the Internal Revenue never did approve this "plan."

There are three trustees. They have no property in the hoard, but Lewis does exercise the power which this enormous amount contains. His friend, Miss Roche, is supposed to represent the "public," but she is a vigorous politician and a cooperative associate of the tyrant himself. There is a third trustee nominally representing the industry, but he never has any power because Lewis and Miss Roche can outvote him. He gets $35,000 a year for attending a few meaningless meetings, but penniless old coal miners may be turned off without a cent.

3 Ulster Hose Firemen Named For Captain Job

Three men have been nominated for the position of captain in Ulster Hose Company No. 5, Inc., town of Ulster.

They are Louis Every, Martin Petersen and Ernest Petersen. The election, which will be held Monday, Feb. 11, is to fill a vacancy created by the resignation of Capt. Don Reed.

The company recently donated blood from its blood bank for an emergency. Members wishing to supplement the supply are requested to contact Harry Hill for an appointment.

Walter Burger was appointed as a delegate to the Albany Businessmen's Association replacing John Peer.

Events Are Planned

A card party for benefit of the Boy Scout troop sponsored by the company will be held Friday, Feb. 15, at the firehouse.

Members of the refreshment committee appointed for February are Austin Brown, chairman, Louis DeGraff, Norman Caunitz, Don Burger and John Crosby.

Orville Klamps was accepted into the company on probation at the regular meeting of the company Monday night. The annual banqquet was set tentatively for April 6.

The company is also reported to be considering the formation of a bowling league. Chairman Nick Kachura has requested members to contact him in order that teams may be formed.

Airlines Claim Record Flight

Paris, Jan. 31 (AP)—A Pan American Airways DC7C claimed a commercial New York-to-Paris record today of 8 hours 50 minutes.

The previous record of 9 hours and 18 minutes was set Jan. 2 by a similar Pan American plane.

Kadar Declares Struggle Is Won Against Rebels

Budapest, Jan. 31 (AP)—Soviet-supported Premier Janos Kadar declared today his Communist regime has won the "struggle for power" against the "Burogeoisie."

The government - controlled Budapest radio broadcast a speech Kadar made to party 'activists" in the Budapest industrial center on Csepel Island.

"Despite past and even present mistakes incurred by the regime," Kadar said, "no honest worker could take a stand against the government of the workers."

His First Venture

It was the first time the premier had ventured into the Cspel industrial complex, one of the centers of the October rebellion.

Kadar said the Cspel Revolutionary Workers Council had been dissolved because "it had not served the interests of the workers but those of the counter-revolution and followed the advice of the American Radio Free Europe."

Gardiner

Gardiner, Jan. 30 — Regular services will be held Sunday at the Reformed Church.

The following children were baptised last Sunday: Scott Leonard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Waite; Sharon Ann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Rizzato, and Chester Harris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Elliot.

The congregational meeting was held last Friday and the following men were elected to succeed the terms of those expired: Carl Dommreis, Joseph McAnlis and Richard Fall, elders; Fred Begelspiker, Joseph Beatty and William Bing, deacons. Samuel Stokes was elected deacon to fill the unexpired term of Arthur Moshinsky who resigned.

The Ladies Aid will meet at the church hall Wednesday, Feb. 6 at 10 a. m. This will be an all-day meeting to sew for Church World Service. Each member is requested to bring her own sandwiches. Dessert and coffee will be supplied by the hostesses, Mrs. Lena Frost, Mrs. Theodore Lewis, Mrs. John Metzler and Mrs. A. D. McKinstry.

Mrs. Grace Graves of Newburgh and Mrs. Edward McGowan of Marlboro were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Pizzuto.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Clarke and children of Roscoe spent Sunday at the home of Mrs. Clarke's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard DeGraff.

Henry Montanye of Nassau Lake spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Jayne.

Mr. and Mrs. Norval Yeaple celebrated their 36th wedding anniversary last Saturday with more than 100 guests. Entertainment included a magician and songs. A buffet supper was served and music for dancing was provided.

Mrs. Carl Dommreis and daughter, Eleanor, Mrs. Albert Ganzer and Mrs. H. Carl Dommreis were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Bohneuberger of Elmhurst, L. I., recently.

Mrs. Andrew Marone and daughter, Terry, of Richmond Hill, L. I., spent a few days last week at their summer home here.

$550,000 Asked To Start Curbing Air Pollution

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 31 (AP)—Gov. Harriman today asked for a $550,000 appropriation as a start on a program to curb air pollution.

"We must not let the menace of our present problem drift toward disaster experienced by other communities," Harriman said in a special message to the Legislature.

He also recommended creation of an air pollution control board in the health department. It would comprise the commissioners of commerce, conservation, health, agriculture and labor.

The governor's message was based largely on a study of air pollution problems made across the state last fall by scientists from New York University's Engineering College.

Harriman said that air pollution, besides being a threat to health, cost New Yorkers 150 million dollars a year. He estimated the economic loss at $10 a person.

Contributing to the economic loss, he said, were damage to vegetation, disfiguration of buildings, soiling of building interiors, declines in real estate values, and increases in lighting costs.

Contaminants may be found in the form of smoke, dust, fly-ash and other solid matter, gases, mists, harmful pollen and odors.

"Radioactive fallout may become a factor and should be watched," the governor said.

Harriman said the greatest pollution problems were around the 14 metropolitan areas having more than 50,000 population.

But he said the NYU study indicated that smaller communities had problems ranging from major to minor.

Faces Bigamy Charge

Dayton, Ohio, Jan. 31 (AP)—Mrs. Cynthia Delores Corraditti, 23, returns to Richmond, Ind., scene of her seventh and most recent marriage, today to face a bigamy charge. The attractive young manicurist told Dayton police her story of seven marriages, but only four divorces, Monday after Eugene Fultz and Raymond Morris, husbands 6 and 7, learned about each other. At that time, Mrs. Corraditti—who apparently did not divorce Benni Corraditti after their marriage in 1953 — indicated she is expecting a baby and said no one seemed to want her.

Conscientious Debtor

Oklahoma City (AP) — Charles Robinson, who operates a jewelry store, got a letter from one of his customers now in a prison in Iowa. The customer asked if he could cut his payments from $1.50 a month. He said he was getting only $2.50 a month in prison but wouldn't give up until he paid his entire bill of $80.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

Cub Pack 7 of St. John's Episcopal Church held their monthly pack meeting Monday evening with "Eyes in the Sky" being the theme of the month.

Flag ceremonies were conducted by George Dall, assisted by William Palen and Daniel McGrane.

Presentation of awards including the following:

Den 5 — Frederick Wiswell, gold arrow, silver arrow; Den 1 —Robert Schaffner, gold arrow; Frederick Wiswell, wolf badge; Den 5—Carl Jones, bear badge; Den 4— John Fatum, bear badge.

Bobcat pins were presented to Joseph Valle, Robert Townsend and Robert Deegan of Den 3.

The Webelos award was made to Donald Beezemer by Cubmaster Ernest Dousharm. John Clark of Troop 8, First Presbyterian Church, conducted a tenderfoot ceremony at which Donald Beezemer was presented his tenderfoot award.

Two new den mothers and their assistants were welcomed into the pack, Mrs. Jennie Valle for Den 3, with Mrs. Rose Marie Deegan and Mrs. Dorothy Townsend, assistant den mothers; Mrs. Helen Ohlsen for Den 5, assisted by Mrs. Norma Wiswell.

In keeping with the theme of the month, Den 3, Mrs. Jennie Valle new den mother and Mrs. Scott, retiring den mother, presented a skit. Participating in the skit were Neil Bechtold, Stuart and Scott Sharot, Daniel McGrane, Joseph Valle, Richard Townsend and Robert Deegan.

There will be a meeting of all den mothers at Mrs. Muriel Short's home on Thursday, to make final arrangements for the annual Blue and Gold Banquet to be held on Feb. 25, at St. John's Episcopal Church.

The monthly meeting of Pack 4, Cub Scouts, was held Monday night at the Fair Street Reformed Church under the direction of Cubmaster Herbert Herdman, and assistant Cubmaster Pete Emerick.

The opening ceremonies were led by Den 3, Mrs. Pearl Crispell, den mother. The entire Pack was then officially inspected under the supervision of District Commissioner Edward Safford, who praised the boys for their high scores.

Badges and awards were given to the following boys: Den 2, Robert Kent, silver arrow; Den 4, John Boyd, gold arrow; Den 4, David Page, bear badge; Den 4, David Short, bear badge, gold arrow; Den 4, William Haltermann, wolf badge, gold arrow, silver arrow.

A skit about the solar system was presented by Dens 1 and 2, under the direction of Den Mothers Mrs. Vivian Ballau and Mrs. Hilda Emerick. There were also interesting displays made by the Cubs about the monthly theme "Eyes in the Sky." "Cubby," the parents attendance award, was won by Den 2.

The closing ceremonies were led by Den 4, Mrs. Patricia MacFadden, den mother.

Cub Pack 9

"Eyes in the Sky," the Cubbing theme for January, was observed at the regular monthly meeting of Pack 9 of Redeemer Lutheran Church Monday night with a candlelight ceremony honoring three new Bobcats and a program of entertainment based on a study of the stars.

The three Cubs formally inducted into the pack along with their families were Steven Roland, Robert Hendricks and Thomas Folicco. Cubmaster Bob Elliott also welcomed David Parker, a transfer Cub from Virginia, as a new member of Pack 9.

Den 4, under the leadership of Den Mother Charlotte Meyer, conducted the opening flag ceremony. The four den table exhibits were explained by one member of each den, demonstrating materials made by the Scouts during their month-long study of the stars. Subjects included constellation "viewitariums," a model of the eclipse of the sun, drawings of the solar system, star booklet and stamp collections, an essay on Mercury, pictures of imaginary strips to the planets, and handmade space helmets.

Quiz on Stars

Life Scout Roland Pope of Explorer Post 9 projected various constellations by means of a planetarium and explained the construction of a telescope to the large group of Cubs and their families. A constellation quiz on slides and a hilarious skit entitled "Seeing Stars" presented by Den 2 under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. John McCullough concluded the entertainment.

Awards for the month were presented as follows: Denner's stripes to Gerald Buboltz and William Reynolds; Assistant Denner's striples to David Parker and Wayne Meyer; Gold arrow on bear badge to Andrew Gilday; Silver arrow on wolf badges to Raymond Cole, Wayne Meyer, and Ronald Reynolds; Silver arrow on bear badges to Robert Villielm, Gerald Buboltz (2) and David Parker (2).

Get Service Pins

Service pins for two years in Cub Scouting were presented to Wayne Boch, John McCullough, David Parker, and Robert Villielm; and a one year service pin to Wayne Meyer.

During the parents meeting, plans were disclosed for future events. In observance of Scout Week, the pack window display will be located at Arace Appliances, 562 Broadway, Feb. 3 through 12. Scout Sunday will be observed Feb. 10, and the annual Blue and Gold Banquet will be held at Redeemer Church, Wurts and Rogers streets, Sunday evening, Feb. 24.

A letter was read from the Kingston Hospital thanking the Cub Pack for their good will project of hand made gifts to the children's ward for Christmas. At the conclusion of the meeting, refreshments were served by members of Den 4.

Airline Official Held

New York, Jan. 30 (AP)—Robert David Jones, vice president of Unites States Overseas Airlines, was arrested by the FBI today on a charge of concealing information about past arrests in a federal security questionnaire. The FBI said Jones violated a federal statute by stating on a personnel security questionnaire for the Philadelphia Air Procurement District that he had been arrested on one occasion when actually he had been arrested on "numerous occasions." The FBI said Jones, of New Rochelle, N. Y., would be arraigned tomorrow before a U. S. commissioner. He was released under his own recognizance.

Search for Brief Caase

Chicago, Jan. 31 (AP)—The FBI and police today investigated the disappearance of a brief case owned by a physicist and which he said contained government secrets. Fletcher C. Paddison of Bethesda, Md., told police the brief case vanished yesterday while he was making a telephone call from an Illinois Central Railroad station at 63rd street on the south side. Paddison told police he was en route from Washington, D. C., to the Bendix Corp. guided missile plant in South Bend, Ind. Police said he referred to the contents of the missing case as "dynamite," but they said he did not elaborate.

Happy Returns

Washington (AP) — Dr. Ward Keesecker called on Rep. Will Neal (R-W.Va.) to congratulate him on his reelection to Congress after a two-year lapse, and to hand over an overcoat and pair of gloves. Neal had left coat and gloves behind in Jakarta, Indonesia, 2½ years ago while on a tour. Keesecker was on detached foreign service at Jakarta at the time.

Dies on Gallows

Warsaw, Jan. 31 (AP) — Wladyslaw Mazurkiewicz, Krakow's "gentleman murderer," whispered a prayer and died on the gallows today for the deaths of four men and two women. The handsome 45-year-old Pole was convicted Aug. 30 of having caused the deaths of six persons and using their money and other possessions to lead a life of ease. Earlier Mazurkiewicz had said in response to an indictment accusing him of killing 30 women, "yes, that's true." At his trial he confessed slaying the two women and four men in holdups but declined other details. It was reported that he financed luxurious lodgings in Krakow and Warsaw with plunder he got from his victims.

Choir to Visit U. S.

Berlin, Jan. 31 (AP)—Germany's most famous boys' choir, the Thomannerchor of Communist-ruled Leipzig, is planning its first postwar appearance in the United States next summer. Communist East Germany's Neue Zeit newspaper said the choir will sing at a meeting of the Lutheran World Federation in Minneapolis in August. Concerts in other American cities are to follow, but Neue Welt gave no details. The choir is sponsored by the Leipzig Thomaskirche, an Evangelical (Lutheran) Church.

Motor Vehicle Users Pay

Motor vehicle users in the United States pay more than 4 billion dollars annually in taxes and road, bridge, tunnel and ferry tolls.

Good Deed

Abilene, Tex. (AP)—A good deed sometimes can backfire. Police Chief W. B. McDonald gave a 53-year-old man an old police coat when the man was working out a fine during a cold snap. The prisoner was picked up for shoplifting shortly after his release. Patrolman John Bostick said the man stuck his loot in the four large inside pockets of the police coat.

Vice President Harry S. Truman was sworn in as President on April 12, 1945.

Harriman Sends 10 Appointments For Confirmation

Albany, Jan. 31 (AP)—Gov. Harriman today reappointed James A. Farley Jr. of New Rochelle to a three-year term on the state athletic commission..

He reappointed his brother, E. Roland Harriman of Arden, to the Palisades Interstate Park Commission.

They were among 10 reappointments the governor sent to the Senate for confirmation.

Others Named

The others:

Chester A. Gorski of Buffalo to the State Building Code Commission.

Mrs. George A. Buchanan of Hagaman to the board of trustees of the Guy Park house and grounds in Amsterdam.

Mrs. Estella F. Callan of Frankfort and Peter B. Cranney of Ilion to the board of commissioners of the Herkimer home.

F. Eugene Wright of Warwick to the board of visitors of the Middletown State Homeopathic Hospital.

Thomas H. Mitchell Jr. of Thousand Island Park to the Thousand Island Park Commission.

Also Appointed

Paul Phillips of Voorheesville and Julius Kahn of Brooklyn to the board of the State Forestry College at Syracuse University.

Harriman also appointed the Rev. John T. Halpin of New York city to the board of visitors of Westfield State Farm for a term ending Feb. 1, 1958. He succeeds Dr. Benjamin F. Barnes, who resigned.

Clark K. Payne of Wolcott was appointed a member of the board of visitors of Newark State School for a term ending Dec. 31, 1963. He succeeds Arthur N. Christy, whose term has expired.

Fewer Federal Jobs

Washington, Jan. 31 (AP)—Sen. Byrd (D-Va.) reported today that there were 2,389,792 regular civilian employes of the federal government in December, a decline of 4,532 compared with November. But he noted that the total still showed a net increase of 5,369 since the current fiscal year started last July. Byrd is chairman of the Joint Committee on Reduction of Nonessential Federal Expenditures.

Man, 79, Run Over Three Times by Cars

Rochester, N. Y., Jan. 31 (AP)—A 79-year-old man was critically injured last night when he was run over three times by two automobiles while crossing a street.

The victim, William Mc Kenzie, was struck by an automobile driven by Robert G. Burleigh, 53, as he was returning to his home from a store where he had purchased some chewing tobacco.

Burleigh told police that he drove his car to the side of the road after striking Mc Kenzie, but before he could go to the aid of the man, another car ran over Mc Kenzie.

The driver of the second car, Frank A. Wahlstrom, 40, told police that he had not seen Mc Kenzie in the street, but when he felt a bump he stopped his car and backed it up to investigate. It was then that he ran over Mc Kenzie a second time.

No charges were placed against either of the drivers.

Actor Pays $250 Fine

Van Nuys, Calif., Jan. 31 (AP)—Actor Dana Andrews has paid a $250 fine on a charge of drunk driving. He pleaded guilty in Municipal Court yesterday. The court gave him the alternative of $250 or 15 days in jail. Andrews, 47, previously had pleaded innocent and asked for a jury trial which had been scheduled for yesterday. He was cited Dec. 28 after his car collided with another in North Hollywood.

Timely Arrival

Des Moines (AP)—Because of a big snow, the baby shower at the Donald Kristufek home for Mrs. Karl F. Mahnke Jr. was postponed a few days. At the appointed hour, all the guests except the guest of honor were present. Her husband telephoned: "I'm terribly sorry about Shirley missing the shower but we're at the hospital now and the baby's on the way." A little later, he called the party again: "Twins! A boy and a girl."

Soothsayer

Baltimore (AP)—Gypsy fortune teller Julia Dons, complaining in police court that three men had broken her window, was asked by Magistrate Howard L. Aaron to predict his verdict. "Guilty," she guessed. "Not guilty," Aaron decreed.

Bomber's Plea To 47 Charges Off Till Feb. 21

New York, Jan. 31. (AP) — George Metesk's plea to 47 "Mad Bomber" charges today was postponed until Feb. 21. This is to permit completion of tests to determine whether he is sane.

Postponement of his answer to the mass-count indictment returned by a grand jury was granted by General Sessions Court Judge Louis J. Capozzoli at the request of Defense Counsel James D. C. Murray.

Still Smiling

Metesky, smiling as always, was brought into court handcuffed and guarded by a score of detectives.

"I feel fine," he said as he exchanged greetings with a crowd of about 200 who watched him enter the criminal courts building.

After the postponement was ordered, Metesky was returned to the psychiatric ward of Bellevue Hospital for further mental tests. He has been there since early last week.

His lawyer, one of New York's most famous criminal attorneys, was accompanied into court by Harry Spellman, a lawyer in Metesky's home town of Waterbury, Conn., and Albert Francis, who described himself as a Waterbury constable and private investigator.

Francis said he will be associated with the defense attorneys in the case.

Could Get Life

If Metesky is adjudged sane, he will be tried on the indictment which includes seven counts of attempted murder. Conviction could bring a lifetime prison term.

Metesky answered "yes, sir" when asked if he were the person named in the indictment as read by the court clerk.

Defense Attorney Murray then told the judge:

"I move that the defendant be committed to Bellevue by this court on the ground that he does not understand the charge against him and can not make his defense."

Asst. Dist. Atty. Karl Grebow offered no objection to the motion and the judge granted it.

Memoriam

In loving memory of my husband and our father, Edward T. Houghtaling, who passed away 3 years ago today, Jan. 31, 1954.

Our lips cannot tell how we miss you,
Our hearts cannot tell what we say;
God alone knows how we miss you,
In a home that is lonesome today.

WIFE, DAUGHTERS & SON

Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear son and brother, Stuart B. Jensen, whom God hath called to rest three years ago today, Jan. 31, 1954.

When a loved one breathes his last farewell
The blow is more than tongue can tell.
Earth seems quite another place
Without the smile of his dear face.
Sleep on, dear one, and take your rest,
For God hath called when He thought best.
Our loss means pain, but yours meant gain.
In Heaven we hope to meet again.

O&W Future on Line

New York, Jan. 31 (AP)—The bankrupt New York, Ontario & Western Railway is threatened with extinction unless $250,000 is raised today. Hope of a last-minute shot in the arm was voiced. The threat to terminate operations of the 541-mile railroad was raised by Federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan. The judge said the only way that the freight railroad could continue operations for at least six months would be for some individual or group to post the money to fill the gap between operating expenses and income.

Suffers Knee Injury

Frederick Planthaber, 12, of 155 Broadway, suffered a knee injury when he ran into a car with his sled on Maple street yesterday. A police report at 4:37 p. m., said the boy came in contact with the car of Arthur White, of 53 Maple street. He was taken home by Officers Thomas McGrane and Anthony Turck and was to be treated by a doctor.

Communications Are Stressed at Onteora Forum

Howard E. Koch, playwright and author of many successful Hollywood films, and writer of the famous and spectacular Orson Welles' panic broadcast "Invasion From Mars" back in 1938, was the speaker at the Onteora Central School Discussion Forum last evening.

A former resident of Kingston, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Koch, his spectacular "Invasion From Mars" radio play, which at the time was never expected to produce the state of panic which it did, thrust him to fame. He received a Warner Brothers contract in 1940 as a result of the broadcast and his career since has been startling. He wrote "Casablanca" for Warner Brothers and in 1943 that film won the top awards in the film capital. His successes have been many in the film industry and he has had three plays produced on Broadway, one in London and one in Chicago.

His topic for last evening was "How to Make Enemies—or Friends," and his talk gave the Onteora Discussion Forum one of its greatest evenings. There were over 100 in attendance and following Koch's talk a question period ensued which brought forth many interesting questions and answers. The forum started last fall with a group of four and has steadily grown in attendance.

Speaks on Effects

Koch spoke last evening on the effects of mass communications on our lives. He referred to the "panic" effect which the "Invasion Fom Mars" had on people when this realistic broadcast was put on the air. He said prior to the broadcast there had been no anticipation of the tremendous impact the broadcast produced.

Koch stressed the effect communication has on all of us. He said the press, radio and TV was bringing to us a wide variety of fact and news and said all should be concerned in evaluation of this news.

Citing the effect the "Invasion From Mars" program had on many people, he said the lesson learned at that time should be studied "before we evaluate news." However, he said that unexpected as the result had been, he felt the program had been a good one since its effect had been to shake people out of their lethargy. He said we all should stop and realize the advantages we have in this country communication-wise and otherwise.

Following the talk a discussion period ensued and it was of such interest the period extended well toward 11 o'clock before Chairman of the meeting James Orser of the social studies faculty of the school adjourned the session.

Democrats See Changes, Study On Ike Doctrine

Washington, Jan. 31 (AP)—Senate Democrats said today President Eisenhower's Middle East resolution faces extensive revision and at least another week of hearings.

But Sen. Thye (R-Minn.) predicted Senate approval within three weeks and without major changes.

The House made only minor changes in passing the measure yesterday by a 355-61 vote.

The resolution would enable Eisenhower to make up to 200 million dollars available for military and economic aid to the Middle East, and give advance approval for use of U. S. troops to halt overt Communist aggression there.

Return to Jobs

Cocoa, Fla., Jan. 31 (AP)—Workers at the U. S. guided missile test center who walked off their jobs yesterday began returning today. A spokesman for Pan American World Airways, contractor for the projects, said it was not known yet how many of the about 500 civilian workmen involved were returning. A 24-hour deadline set by the company yesterday was extended to take care of a number of persons standing in line, the company said.

Diamond Cache Buried

Philadelphia, Jan. 31 (AP)—A small fortune in diamonds lies buried in center city Philadelphia, but the shaky hulk of a burned out building stands guard over it like a dragon over some fairy tale treasure. The diamonds—$50,000 worth—are only part of the valuable property of six jewelry firms that was buried under debris when one of Philadelphia's worst fires collapsed the interior of a four-story building on Dec. 28.

with present prices and costs, farmers will need to give greater attention to farm business management to earn satisfactory incomes. He recommended reducing costs, improving quality and expanding markets. Among major factors in increasing efficiency is the need for a large enough farm business to keep the labor force fully employed, using established labor-saving equipment and practices.

He said last year was the best in history for the U. S. economy, with 1957 promising to exceed it and make new records in gross national product, industrial production and disposable income. He pointed out that the speculative boom "has been kept in fairly good control so far by the Federal Reserve and treasury with the cooperation of business men and in spite of criticism of tight money policies.

Can't Lean on Aid

He said we are learning the hard way that government farm programs cannot make enduring farm prosperity. Price supports can cushion declining prices for a few months by loans or purchases, but they cannot raise prices over the longer period unless products are given away or destroyed. Dean Myers said he felt the flexible price-support law was a step in the right direction.

From the low point of December, 1955, U. S. farm prices have increased seven per cent to December, 1956. This was due partly to a rebound from over-pessimism and partly to the improved outlook for hogs, cattle and milk. There have been comparable increases in net incomes of farmers.

Talks on Control

D. H. Palmiter of the Poughkeepsie Laboratory, speaking Wednesday morning on "Disease Control—Outlook for Eastern New York," said that in the future "more effort should be given to correcting the injuries of the roots whether they be caused by organisms or the accumulations of toxic spray materials."

He pointed out that progress in this field was apt to be slow since many factors were involved and each one had to be worked out separately.

Mr. Palmiter summarized his remarks by saying that is seemed that a high state of perfection had been apparently attained in the control of diseases that directly affect the sale value of the fruit. "We are making progress in our investigations into the effects of diseases and fungicides used for their control in relation to injury to the leaves of apple trees and the resulting effects on yields and quality. There is still room for improvement in fungicides as none is perfect and combinations are still required for control of all diseases."

Discusses Sprays

E. H. Glass of the Geneva Agricultural Experiment Station spoke on changes in the spray program indicated by resistance of red-banded leaf roller and other pests.

Prof. Glass said the worm has managed to detour around poison to get into the apple. The worm—more properly known as the larva of the coddling moth—changed his habits of entering the apple after growers began spraying apple trees with lead arsenate. The larva used to get inside by boring through the calyx, or end of the apple. There the poison collected. Now it goes through the side.

Another insect—the red-banded leaf roller—is now resistant in some orchards to the same DDD poison which was the undoing of his ancestors, Prof. Glass said. This is probably not because the insects have built up an immunity but rather because of the workings of natural selection. Leaf rollers susceptible to the poison have been killed off, leaving the few individuals for which it is not fatal. These breed and produce a strain equipped with some "detoxification" system which breaks down the poison inside them before it can do any harm.

Another trait of the leaf roller has helped it meet the threat of insecticides, he said. The larva has always crawled to the end of branches to munch on tender foliage in the spring. The budding leaves are generally untouched by poison. To avoid this, the moth should be sprayed in its brood stage, in August, when the only leaves on the trees are the mature ones which can be reached by spray.

Advertising Makes Friends

Sam Cherr of Pleasant Valley, a Dutchess county fruit grower and senior vice-president of Young and Rubicam, largest advertising and promotion agency for food products in the United States, speaking on "Advertising and the Apple Business," said that advertising was a "way of persuading people to do something you would like them to do."

He said advertising had developed tremendously in the United States, that the only other country with anything like its intensity was Russia where advertising had been used to enslave its citizens. "When used properly, advertising can make friends," he said, explaining that people feel uncomfortable with strange persons and commodities.

Points to Orange Industry

The problem in the apple business is to persuade people to buy apples, he said—"not just like them but buy them." He said the society had done a remarkable job with the funds it had available for advertising. He pointed out, however, that the orange industry in 1955 spent $10,500,000 while the apple industry spent only $560,000 on advertising.

He proposed an increase in advertising, funds for which might be obtained by a contribution of five cents per box, and an advertising campaign through some central cooperative body.

John Chandler of the New York and New England Apple Institute said the entire apple industry of the area was the beneficiary of a broad advertising program. "I know that with more money we could do a much better job of making friends for apples. If advertising can make friends for us it means a tremendous lot to us."

He pointed out that the apple must compete in advertising with all kinds of other products but that it had much to recommend it in the conduct of such a program. For instance, it is "ready to eat." It is also delicious in salads and is the basis of "more good desserts than any other fruit known." He said these were facts which should be made known.

L. W. Marvin, also of the New York and New England Apple Institute, said the institute would make a strong advertising impression throughout the country through advertising space in certain key publications. "We will give our customers the best support possible to move their apples," he stated.

Norman Barnes of Wallingford, Conn., spoke on the Connecticut Clearing House Association, pointing out that the purpose of the association, which hasn't been in existence too many years, was to collect and circulate accurate information. He said the organization had been loyally supported. It has the services of an expert on a part-time basis.

73 Cases Are Disposed of at January Court

During the January trial term of Supreme Court Justice Roscoe V. Elsworth disposed of a total of 73 cases. There were 55 settlements during the term, seven cases were stricken from the calendar, three were referred to an official referee and eight cases went to trial before the court and jury.

Prior to adjournment to chambers, discharge of the jurors and termination of the trial term, Justice Elsworth Wednesday thanked the trial jurors for the time given to the matter of bringing justice to residents of the county and for the careful and intelligent manner in which they had heard cases and returned verdicts.

A negligence action brought by Fred Morgan against Isadore Levine was settled Wednesday. Arthur B. Ewig for plaintiff and Cook and Cook for defendant.

A specific performance action brought by Ulster Valley Builders, Inc., against Maria Triolo, was also settled. D. J. Grossman for plaintiffs and Raymond J. Mino for defendant.

An action for separation and a counter claim for divorce brought by Agnes Muller against Joseph A. Muller was disposed of at chambers following adjournment of the open court matters.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Jan. 31 (AP)—Industrials led the stock market to a small rise in moderate trading early this afternoon.

Key issues were ahead from fractions to around a point.

Steels resumed the upside after some early profit-taking on their strong recovery of the past two sessions. Some motors, chemicals and manufacturing stocks also made sizable gains.

But utilities were easy in the wake of their recent strength and rails showed some small losses.

On the American Stock Exchange, prices were irregularly higher in moderate trading.

Corporate bonds rose in quiet trading.

U. S. government bonds improved slightly in quiet dealings over the counter.

Police Report Confessions Link 7 to Violence

Montgomery, Ala., Jan. 31 (AP) —City detectives sought new evidence today in a continuing investigation which has already put at least seven white men in jail for the recent bombings of Negro homes and churches.

Police Commissioner Clyde Sellers announced last night that "seven or eight" men are being held for the dynamiting of four churches and three dwellings in an outburst of violence following the end of segregation on city buses.

7 Admit Roles

"Several" have signed statements admitting participation in the bombings, the commissioner said.

Sellers said that one of the men, identified as Henry Alexander, 27, admitted shooting into a bus in one of six outbreaks of gunfire that preceded the bombings.

The violence began after segregation barriers were hauled down on Montgomery buses under a federal court order Dec. 21. In all of the attacks, only one person was seriously injured. A young Negro woman passenger was shot in both legs by a sniper who ambushed one bus.

Sellers' announcement came one year to the day after the first bomb exploded in the long and bitter struggle over bus segregation.

The home of the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., who led a year-long mass Negro bus boycott that preceded the U. S. Supreme Court ruling against segregation, was dynamited the night of Jan. 30, 1956. No one was injured.

Funeral for Coach Watson

Jamestown, N. Y., Jan. 31 (AP) —Funeral services will be held Saturday for Harry T. Watson, 74, former college football coach, who died after a short illness Tuesday. Watson was a former Williams College football captain and later became the coach of Lou Little, who retired last fall as football coach at Columbia. Watson retired in 1950 after 30 years as physical education director in the Jamestown public schools. He coached football at Hamilton College in 1905, at Williams in 1906, at Ursinus in 1907-08 and at the University of Rochester in 1911-15.

Plan to Sell Bus Lines

New York, Jan. 31 (AP)—The board of estimate has given informal approval to a plan to sell New York city's bus lines to private operators. The board's five-man committee, appointed in 1955 by Mayor Robert F. Wagner to study such a sale, yesterday issued general recommendations but no final report. Public hearings on the proposal are expected to be held later.

A Texas playboy visiting New York city was crossing the Hudson river in his 1957-model limousine, replete with air conditioning, jeweled headlamps, a bar and television set and a five-piece orchestra playing soft music from the rear seat. Reaching the far side of the George Washington Bridge, the chauffeur was waved to a stop by a bridge guard. "Your toll fee, please," announced the attendant. "Fifty cents." The man from Texas, an oil billionaire, of course, proceeded to search his pockets for change, then replied, "Sorry, pardner, but I ain't got an ounce of silver in my jeans. How much do you figure your bridge is worth?"

Once upon a time two efficiency experts were out on a lake, fishing from a rowboat. The boat leaked so bad that it was in danger of sinking. Both worked at bailing out the water until they wearily agreed that such labor was unseemly and inefficient. One proposed that they punch a hole in the bottom of the boat and let the water run out by itself, which they did. But by some singular perversity, the water didn't run out—it ran in. Whereupon, the second expert had a happy inspiration. He advised that another hole be punched in the bottom of the boat, near the first hole, so the water could run out as fast as it ran in. Both were rescued, with their ingenious ideas somewhat damp but otherwise intact, and both are now busily engaged devising ways and means to keep the good ship Business afloat.

An American tourist in Scotland took a great fancy to a handsome collie he saw, and offered to buy it. The owner asked some questions, and on learning that it was the would-be purchaser's intention to take "Jock" to America he refused to part with the dog.

Just then an English tourist came along, and he also made a bid for the collie, which, though less than the first offer, was accepted. The American was annoyed, and when the Englishman had departed, he said: "You told me you wouldn't sell your dog."

"Na, na," replied the canny Scot. "I said I couldna part wi' him. Jock'll be back in a day or two, never fear. But he couldna swim the Atlantic."

Approve Tallamy For Road Post

Washington, Jan. 31 (AP)—The Senate Public Works Committee yesterday approved President Eisenhower's nomination of Bertram D. Tallamy, former chairman of the New York State Thruway Assn., to head up the government's new multi-billion dollar highway program.

Tallamy, 55, of Sands Point, N. Y., was appointed to the $20,000-a-year post as federal highway administrator last October. The nomination is subject to confirmation by the Senate.

Committee approval, without a dissenting vote from the 12 senators present, came after Tallamy underwent careful questioning by the committee on various phases of the program he will administer under the 33 billion dollar construction bill passed by Congress last year.

The closest he came to getting into difficulty was when he told Sen. Revercomb (R.-W. Va.) that he would be opposed to addition of any mileage to the 41,000-mile interstate system which would jeopardize the already approved program.

If added mileage were to be approved and financed by Congress, he said, he would have no objection.

Uprising Flares Again Among Milk Producers

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 31 (AP)—A conflict between New York and New Jersey milk producers over a federal marketing order has flared up again.

The United Milk Producers Assn., largest producer group in New Jersey with some 2,000 members, voted yesterday to boycott a meeting next Thursday in Syracuse, N. Y.

The Syracuse meeting will discuss a combined federal order for both New York and New Jersey—a proposal which has been backed by powerful New York dairy groups.

The UMP, which has been unalterably opposed to anything except separate controls for each state, said it would not attend the meeting.

It took a similar stand earlier this month on a meeting in Utica, N. Y., but attended when it was agreed to look into the possibility of separate orders. Their proposal was turned down.

The UMP stand is backed by Gov. Robert B. Meyner's milk committee. But at a committee meeting yesterday, the group voted 8-3 to go to Syracuse while still maintaining it wanted a separate order.

If the Syracuse meeting would discuss separate orders, the UMP would attend, a spokesman said.

Slight Boost for Farmers

Washington, Jan. 31 (AP)—A slight new boost in farm prices has raised the mid-January level to 5 per cent above a year ago. The Agriculture Department reported yesterday that average prices of farm products rose four-tenths of 1 per cent between mid-December and Jan. 15. It also reported that prices paid by farmers reached a new high during that same period, rising two-thirds of 1 per cent. The mid-January level of prices paid by farmers was 3.7 per cent above that a year ago. The new increase in prices paid by farmers was 3.7 per cent above that of a year ago.

Complete Fiscal Exam of Library And Pine Hill

Completion of examination of the fiscal affairs of the village of Pine Hill and the Pine Hill Public Library was announced by State Comptroller Arthur Levitt.

Copies of the examination reports have been sent to the clerk and other officials of each of the counties, towns, villages and districts examined. Since the reports are a part of the public record they are available for review by interested citizens.

A copy of each of the reports is also on file at the Department of Audit and Control in Albany and is also available for public inspection.

The Danish West Indies, now known as the Virgin Island, were ceded by Denmark to the United States in 1916 for 25 million dollars.

Russian Leaders To Visit Finland

Moscow, Jan. 31 (AP)—Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev accepted today an invitation to visit Finland, probably this spring.

Visiting Karl August Fagerholm of Finland extended the invitation at a Kremlin luncheon yesterday and Bulganin and Khrushchev accepted at a luncheon at the Finnish Embassy today.

Opportune Time

For the Russians, the invitation comes at a most opportune time. It will permit Bulganin and Khruschev to resume their traveling salesmanship abroad, cut short by the worldwide storm of anti-Soviet feeling following armed intervention in Hungary.

Bulganin and Khruschchev originally had been scheduled to visit Sweden, Norway and Denmark this spring but the Scandinavian tour was postponed following the Hungarian revolt. The host countries reportedly advised the Kremlin a visit would be inappropriate. It was generally accepted that anti-Soviet demonstrations and protests could have embarrassed both host and guest if the tour had been held as planned.

The alacrity with which Bulganin and Khrushchev accepted the Finnish invitation indicated the Kremlin's anxiety to end the period of relative isolation from the western world that events in Hungary forced upon them.

To Open Job Bids OnHighlandWork

Sealed bids for general repairs and improvements at the truck weighing station on Route 9W at Highland will be among the 21 proposed public works construction jobs costing about $30 million to be opened in Albany Thursday, Feb. 28.

According to the announcement by the State Department of Public Works, the 21 jobs involve 53.97 miles of work in 20 counties and have been estimated at a total cost of $29,920,261.10.

The bids will be opened publicly at 10:30 a. m., Eastern Standard Time, in Hearing Room No. 1 of the Gov. Alfred E. Smith State Office Building.

Sleeping Children Perish in Blaze

East Candia, N. H., Jan. 31 (AP)—Four sleeping children perished today in a flash fire that roared through their rural home in this small southern New Hampshire town.

Their parents and three other children leaped to safety though a window after trying unsuccessfully to rescue the others.

"We tried to save them, oh God, how we tried to save them, but the flames were just too much for us," sobbed Mrs. Claire La Duke, 31, who suffered a back injury as she jumped to the ground.

Her husband, Reginald, a 32-year-old truck driver, who lost his job the day before yesterday, said, "it was such an inferno we really didn't have time to think. We didn't know what we were doing."

The victims were identified as 7-month-old William, Linda, 3, Maureen, 7, and Diane, 12.

The surviving children are Michael, 5, Reginald Jr., 8, and Dolores, 11.

Bill Introduced To Add Strength To Car Insurance

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 31 (AP)—An administration bill designed to plug loopholes in the state's compulsory automobile insurance law was introduced today in the Legislature.

The bill would protect innocent victims whose vehicles were involved in accidents with uninsured, out-of-state vehicles, stolen vehicles or vehicles operated without the owner's permission. Funds for the first year would be obtained by adding $1 to the cost of motor vehicle registration.

Board to Run Fund

The fund would be operated by a seven-member board comprising four representatives of insurance companies, one layman, and the superintendent of insurance and the commissioner of motor vehicles. The insurance superintendent would administer the fund.

The bill was submitted by Sen. Samuel L. Greenberg and Assemblyman Stanley Steingut, both Brooklyn Democrats.

Leffert Holz, Gov. Harriman's superintendent of insurance, requested the bill. He noted that the compulsory insurance law, enacted last year, required the owner of a motor vehicle to furnish financial security as a condition to registration.

But, Holz said, the law "fails in large measure to accomplish the declared purpose of the legislation—that innocent victims of motor vehicle accidents may be recompensed for the injury and financial loss inflicted upon them."

Effective in 1958

The maximum amount of a claim made against the proposal fund would not exceed:

1. $10,000 for injury or death to one person in one accident.
2. $20,000 for injury or death of more than one person in one accident.
3. $5,000, with $500 deductible, for damage to property in one accident.

The measure would take effect Jan. 1, 1958, in order to coincide with the next motor vehicle registration date. Provisions relating to payment of the claims would apply to accidents occurring on or after that date.

The measure would appropriate $200,000 to defray expenses in carrying out provisions of the law.

Teamsters Lead Revolt Against Big Union Merger

Miami Beach, Fla., Jan. 31 (AP)—A building trades union clique apparently spearheaded by the embattled teamsters union threatened today to break up the AFL-CIO merger.

The building trades group, claiming about 3 million of the AFL-CIO's 15 million members, suddenly stirred up a long-quiet revolt into a red hot fight against former CIO unions for job rights.

The teamsters union—largest AFL-CIO affiliate currently in dutch with Congress for advising its officers they would lose nothing avoiding testimony in labor racket probes—seems to be stirring up the building trades into action.

Hoffa Major Figure

At least, young teamsters vice president James R. Hoffa of Detroit, the union's midwest boss, has been a major figure in most building trades meetings planning the revolt.

The latest development came in a statement by the building trades group that it will seek to "regain work now being performed by other organizations." This spells "war" to most former CIO unions.

Unions of both the former AFL and former CIO have conflicting jurisdictional authority in their charters—power to assign members to work.

As Hoffa put it to reporters, "we are out to recapture members the CIO crowd got that we ought to have."

Hoffa went on to say the teamsters hope to reorganize the building trades along teamsters' union lines where power is concentrated nationally and by areas rather than in locals.

Chou in Ceylon

Colombo, Ceylon, Jan. 31 (AP)—Chou En-lai arrived tonight for talks with Premier Solomon Bandaranaike. A big crowd gave the touring Red Chinese premier a boisterous welcome and Bandaranaike greeted Chou warmly. Chou is the first foreign Communist to visit Ceylon since Bandaranaike, a leftwinger, relaxed a ban imposed for the past 10 years by more conservative premiers. Yellow robed Buddhist monks chanted verses of blessing for Chou, who saluted them in the traditional eastern manner.

Negrillos are a tribe with yellowish skin who live in the African Congo.

Witnesses Will Be Visited by Circuit Head

A week of special activity will be climaxed this weekend when C. M. Johnston, supervisor of New York Circuit No. 5, Jehovah's Witnesses, will speak to the Kingston congregation which, together with 22 other congregations, compose the circuit.

Mr. Johnston's semi-annual visit to the local congregation is to oversee the preaching activity in which the Witnesses engage, supervising ministerial training in which all members take part.

"In view of world events and their occurrences fulfilling Bible prophecy of the 'last day' mentioned by Jesus, Jehovah's Witnesses feel that in order to carry out their God given command to 'preach the word,' they should do it in a manner that will reflect the importance and urgency of the 'Kingdom message'."

A special program will be in session Saturday at 8 p. m., which will highlight the Bible scripture of Matthew 5:3 NW, "Happy are those who are conscious of their spiritual needs."

On Sunday at 3 p. m. Mr. Johnston will give the address, "Has God's Purpose for Mankind Failed?"

All meetings will be held at Kingdom Hall, 105 Pine street. The public is invited to attend. No collections will be taken.

Hungarians Plan To Free Roraback

Budapest, Jan. 31 (AP)—An authoritative Communist government source predicted tonight that Richard Roraback, 26, of Dobbs Ferry, N. Y., will be set free soon with orders to leave Hungary at once.

Roraback was arrested Jan. 12 by Hungarian authorities while aiding Hungarian refugees to cross the frontier into Austria. He has been held incommunicado despite sharp protests from U. S. diplomats.

Einar Roos, a Norwegian student, was arrested with Roraback. The Norwegian minister here was permitted to see Roos for 45 minutes on Saturday.

Fair Trade

Milwaukee (AP)—The Milwaukee Sentinel offered free want ads to local youngsters. Jon, age 8, offered to "exchange my mother's mangle for a record player or a 24-inch bike."

"NON-EXISTENT" PICTURE — In its current issue, The Fisherman magazine has an article "Queens Go Fishing," describing the angling activities of Britain's Queen Elizabeth and the Queen Mother, both ardent fishermen. The magazine asked Buckingham Palace for a picture of Queen Elizabeth fishing. "There are no photographs in existence, of the Queen fishing" was the unequivocal answer. But Fisherman finally unearthed this one, taken in May, 1952. It shows Queen Elizabeth, clad in waders, tweed jacket and head scarf, fishing for salmon in the River Dee on the royal estate at Balmoral, Scotland. Man with her is unidentified. Her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, was also fishing, two miles downstream.

First Webelos Den Is Installed Here

The first Webelos den in the city was welcomed into the great tribe of the Webelos by Chief Ralph Shapiro and, several of his warriors in full regalia with an impressive ceremony held Monday in Bethany Hall of the Old Dutch Church.

Troop 12 assisted Pack 12 in the installation ceremony.

The meeting was opened by Cubs from Den 2 with Den Chief Peter Kelderhouse conducting the ceremony.

The Cubmaster, Wendell Nason, read the following announcements: All Cubs must have craft work at their dens at this week's den meeting. Scout Week is Feb. 6 to Feb. 12 during which Cubs may wear full uniform to school and any special events. The Old Dutch Church has invited all Cubs to attend the 11 a. m. service on Sunday, Feb. 10, in uniform. This is Scout Sunday.

Mr. Nason also impressed on the parents the need for the special cubbing insurance and the usefulness of Boy's Life magazine as a help along the Scouting trail.

A short report was given on January activities. The dens gave up their skits in favor of the Webelos ceremony; mention was made of the library trip on the star theme and the attendance at the Youth Sunday service at the Old Dutch Church.

Richard Stewart, district merit badge counselor on nature subjects, gave a very interesting talk on the "Eyes in the Sky" theme, referring to an excellent chart of the heavens.

Awards for January were as follows: Bobcat, Frank Simpson, Jr., Barry Brace; Wolf, Stephen Heitz, Thomas Clancy; Gold Arrow on Bear, Alan Ford; Lion, John Filiatrault, Donald Wolf; Gold Arrow on Lion, Richard Frasch, Donald Wolf, Jeffrey Elwyn; Silver Arrow on Lion, Jeffrey Elwyn (3), Richard Nason (2), Richard Frasch, Donald Wolf; One year star, Terry Burns; Denner stripes, Stephen Otis, Russell Witowski; Assistant denner, Stephen Heitz, Frank Simpson, Jr.

The cubmaster explained the need for the Webelos Den as an essential aid for boys who are apt to lose interest in Cubbing and are not quite old enough for Scouting. This Den is a foretaste of Scouting combined with specialized guidance on their Webelos requirements. Mr. Nason then called on the den mothers to bring the boys forward with their parents. The parents and den mothers were dismissed and the new Den was presented to Gordon Burns, assistant cubmaster.

Edward Safford, district commissioner and Thomas Orr, neighborhood commissioner, also spoke.

Mr. Safford presented the new den with their new American flag and Webelos Den flag after the Induction Ceremony.

Webelos Den roster includes: Gordon Burns, assistant cubmaster, leader; Peter Kelderhouse, den chief; Jeffrey Elwyn, Richard Nason, Donald Wolf, John Filiatrault, Richard Frasch and John Osterhoudt.

Refreshments were served after a closing ceremony by Den 2.

Pack 12 Scrap Drive Scheduled Saturday

Cub Scouts of Pack 12 will hold a scrap and rags drive Saturday. They will cheerfully take any scrap iron, rags, newspapers and deposit bottles in a city-wide drive beginning at 8:30 a. m. Due to inclement weather the scrap drive was changed from Jan. 26 to Feb. 2.

Residents may put articles in front of their homes or you may phone Wendell Nason to be certain their house will be contacted.

ENJOYING NEW FREEDOM—Mrs. Nancy Conant, a polio victim, smiles happily as she demonstrates a new portable power unit for respirators at Mount Sinai Hospital in New York. It makes it possible for respirator patients to go to the theater, go shopping in stores and engage in many other hitherto impossible activities. The new unit, 24 inches long, 16 inches wide and nine inches thick, weighs 55 pounds. It is carried underneath a wheelchair with a flexible hose connecting it to the patient's respirator.

State Car Inspection Law

(Last in a Series)

New York's new periodic inspection law, under which passenger cars and trucks will be inspected starting February 1, has plenty of teeth in it. Stiff penalties face violators, whether they be operators of the official inspection stations or owners of motor vehicles subject to the law.

Affected are all motor vehicles over four years old and also, starting May 1, used vehicles four or less years old if sold or transferred.

The operator of an official inspection station risks his station license by violating either the inspection law or regulations of the Bureau of Motor Vehicles. He can also lose his station license for imposing excessive inspection fees or excessive charges for repairs required by inspection.

The motorist who fails to comply faces suspension or revocation of his car registration plates.

Some offenses also mean arrest and criminal penalties.

If inspection discloses a vehicle to be unsafe on the highways and unrepairable, the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles must revoke its registration plates. Its days of running on the public roads are over.

Tardy Inspection

If the owner of a vehicle subject to the law doesn't obtain an inspection sticker on time, his registration plates will be suspended. This includes vehicles initially rejected which are not repaired and approved on reinspection within ten days of the original inspection.

Unless a vehicle has an inspection sticker, no registration plates can be issued for it for 1958 or thereafter. When the vehicle passes inspection, the registration renewal stub will be stamped to indicate that the inspection requirement has been met.

On and after May 1, 1957, the purchaser of any used vehicle will not be able to register it and get plates for it unless it has a valid inspection sticker. If the sale is made by a registered automobile dealer it must have a valid inspection sticker on it at the time of sale.

In addition to registration suspension or revocation, the operator of a vehicle subject to the law will face arrest on and after January 1, 1958, if the vehicle does not display an inspection sticker. Violation is a traffic infraction, punishable by a fine of up to $25 for a first offense, $25 to $50 for a second offense within 18 months, and $50 to $100 for a third offense within 18 months.

Grounds for suspending or revoking the license of an official inspection station include excessive fees or charging too much for required repairs; failure to conduct inspections according to regulations; improper issuance of stickers; conviction of crime involving moral turpitude; fraud, deceit or misrepresentation in securing a license or in operating the station; any other violation of the law or regulations.

Some Offenses Misdemeanors

The law also specifies various types of serious criminal offenses which are classified as misdemeanors.

Among these are: Issuance of an inspection sticker without having made an inspection; wilfully issuing a sticker for a car with equipment which does not meet inspection standards; counterfeiting or knowingly using a counterfeit inspection sticker; displaying an inspection sticker knowing it to be fictitious or issued without an inspection having been made; unlawfully mutilating a valid inspection sticker; unlawfully removing a valid sticker from a vehicle; advertising an unlicensed station as an official inspection station; attempting to transfer a license for an official inspection station, or knowingly making a false statement in an application for an inspection station license.

Compliance with the new inspection program by both car-owners and station operators will serve to make our streets and highways safer by taking off the road dangerous jalopies and by bringing other affected vehicles up to measurably safe standards at least once a year. Owners of vehicles not subject to the law should have inspections made voluntarily for their own safety, remembering that all vehicles, regardless of age, must always be kept in safe operating condition.

Careful Driving Essential

But the program will not in any detract from the paramount importance of individual driver responsibility for safe operation. Compliance with all traffic laws, careful operation and road courtesy are cardinal safety factors. Inspection cannot lessen the toll taken by recklessness, excessive speed, drunken driving. But the combination of a safe driver and safe vehicle is the strongest antidote for traffic accidents.

Don't put off getting your car inspected. Check the schedule to see in which month your car is scheduled for inspection. Then get it done on time. Remember there are 3,000,000 motor vehicles which must pass inspection this year. Those who put off inspections or repairs and reinspections are certain to pay for it in deadline delays, the risk that time will run out before needed repairs or adjustments can be made, and resultant suspension of registration plates.

Hurley Democrats Back Carroll for Post

The Hurley Democratic Club met Tuesday night at the fire hall in West Hurley.

An interesting and informative film entitled "Government is Your Business" was shown to the members present and following this club matters for the year 1957 were discussed. The various chairmen of committees gave a brief progress report of their work to the present date and disclosed what plans they had for future club business.

The club endorsed the candidacy of its president, Joseph Carroll, for the office of county chairman of the Democratic Party of Ulster county.

The next meeting of the club will be Feb. 26 at the fire hall in West Hurley at 8 p. m.

Shokan

Shokan, Jan. 31—Callers in the village Saturday included David C. Squier of Delhi.

Mrs. Harrison Gridley, widely known Shady resident, who died Jan. 24 at the age of 63, had a large circle of friends in the reservoir section where she was a frequent visitor.

Mt. Marion residents calling the village Sunday included Henry and Betty Haeussler. Mrs. Haeussler has an antique shop.

Mrs. Larry Bishop who died Jan. 24 in Kingston was one of the few remaining Olive residents who had lived in the old village of Boiceville. The former Blanche Churchill and Mr. Bishop were married Oct. 5, 1908, and had since made their home on the old Moses Bishop farmstead, Boiceville hill road.

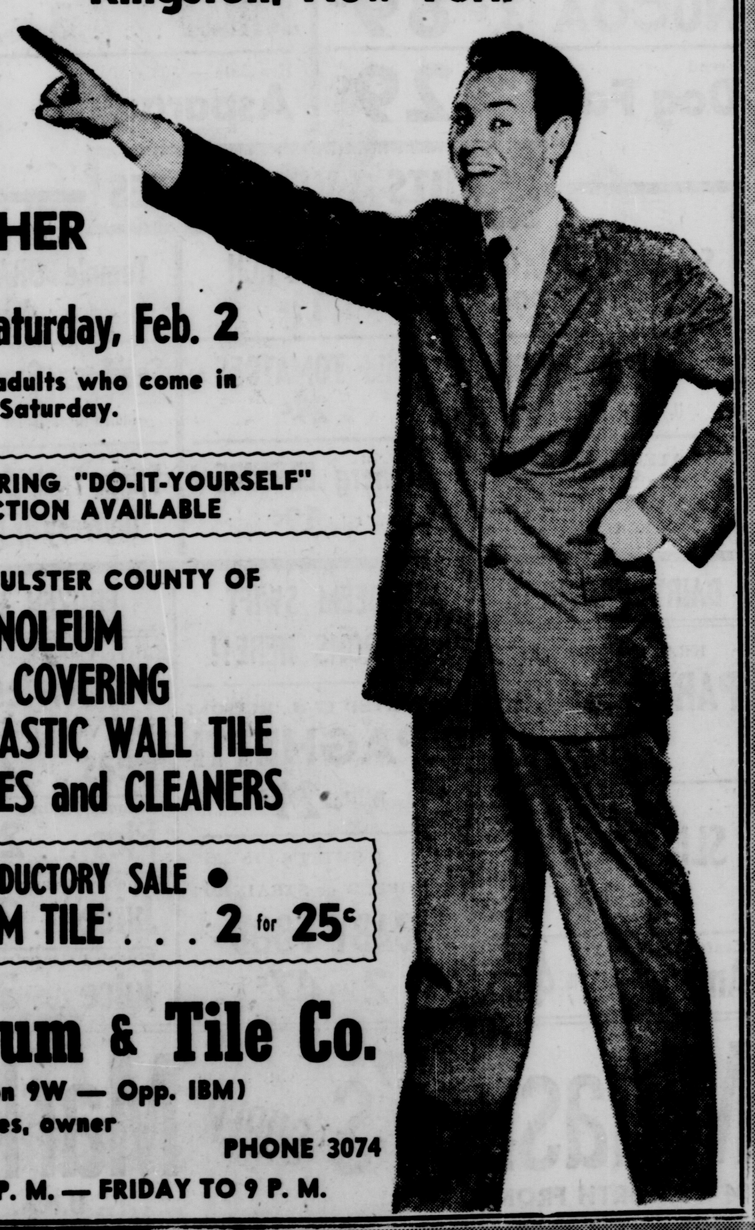

Men and trucks of the Foley Construction Corp., are continuing the work of building poles and lines for connecting houses at the Aerator Park with Central Hudson facilities. Electric service formerly was supplied from the New York city gate chamber.

Frank Waters, one of Ulster county's best known horsemen and for many years a farmer in the old Hurley area, was a recent Shokan caller. Frank, who hopes to be the first person to drive over the new river bridge, reports that Harold Davis, a native of Krumville, left Hurley for Florida last week.

AMERICAN MENU

Spain's Benedictine Eggs Provide Delightful Change

SPANISH ELEGANCE is reflected in this Egg Benedictine, a light supper using codfish, olive oil and various spices.

BY GAYNOR MADDOX,
NEA Food and Markets Editor

In Spain eggs are almost a national dish. A "must" at luncheon, they are seldom served at breakfast unless requested by a foreign visitor.

Benedictine eggs, Spanish style, are slightly different from what we ordinarily serve in America. A cream sauce made with olive oil and egg yolks is combined with cooked codfish. This is placed on toasted bread and topped with a poached egg. A delightful change.

Use this recipe as the basis for a simple luncheon or light supper menu. Accompany it with lettuce and tomato salad dressed with olive oil and vinegar. Ice cream with fresh or frozen strawberries and tea would make a nice finish to the meal.

Benedictine Eggs
(Makes 4 servings)

Three-quarters pound codfish frozen or fresh; 1 cup salted water, 2 egg yolks, 2 tablespoons water, ¼ cup Spanish olive oil, dash of pepper, ⅛ teaspoon nutmeg, 4 eggs, 4 slices toast, paprika.

Poach cod in 1 cup salted water for 10 minutes or until tender. Drain and flake. Combine egg yolks and 2 tablespoons water in top of double boiler. Place over hot but not boiling water.

Add oil slowly, beating constantly with whisk or beater, and cook until mixture thickens and becomes creamy.

Remove from double boiler and add codfish, pepper and nutmeg. Poach 4 eggs. Serve cod on toast and top with a poached egg. Garnish with a dash of paprika and lemon if desired.

TOMORROW'S DINNER: Eggs Benedictine, Spanish style, lettuce and tomato salad, olive oil and wine vinegar, crusty whole wheat bread, vanilla ice cream, crushed fresh or frozen strawberries, coffee, tea milk.

A little learning has its hazards. East had read that a valuable defense against the Blackwood convention is the double of the response to tell partner what to lead.

Hence, when North responded five hearts to show two aces, East was right there with a booming double to tell his partner to open a heart against the final contract.

South had already made a terrific overbid when he tried Blackwood. With an opening bid just above a minimum he should merely have bid game in spades and not considered a slam. Now, he was further encouraged by the heart double and jumped to the slam.

West wanted to open a diamond. The jack-ten-nine combination looked mighty good to him. Still, his partner had asked for a heart lead and West dutifully led the queen.

The heart opening was the only lead to give South his contract. It did not matter whether East won with the ace or ducked. Declarer was able to restrict his hearts to one loser and with the drop of the queen of trumps he had no losers anywhere else.

East's double was pointless. He did have the ace of hearts but he also held the king of clubs and the queen of diamonds. Instead of asking for a heart lead he should have wanted West to open normally.

THEY'LL DO IT EVERY TIME (Registered U. S. Patent Office) By JIMMY HATLO

Weekly Food Review

(By The Associated Press)

Beef, in a wide range of cuts, will be served for many a Sunday dinner this weekend if the household shopper goes for a bargain in her supermarket or neighborhood food store.

The cut may be anything from chuck roast, or ground beef, to rib or round roast, or even a sirloin or porterhouse steak, since all will be featured in many stores for the next few days.

More On Way

The fancier cuts currently are not as fancy, price-wise, as they once were. The two top grades of choice and prime beef are taken from corn-fed cattle, and farmers were fattening up 4 per cent more such critters at the start of the year. This promises a steady flow of juicy, tender steaks and roasts for several months.

The increased number of cattle being corn fed is attributed largely to a bumper corn crop last year plus drought conditions in the southwest. Ranchers there are reducing their herds, providing more cattle for finish-feeding on grain.

Other types of specials will be featured, too. Fish, for example, is more numerous on the bargain counter now, with cod, tuna, halibut, haddock, bluefish, smelts and flounder all mentioned.

Turkey Featured

Turkeys and veal cuts also will be featured in some stores, with lamb, ham, pork and chicken bargains more widely scattered.

Chicken prices are reported 2 to 4 cents higher in many places, but this is generally regarded as only temporary, for farmers are expected to raise nearly a billion and a half broilers this year, 10 per cent more than 1956's record.

Eggs, too, are a penny or two higher in some places, but here again expectations are for record supplies of eggs this year. It seems increasing numbers of chickens are laying eggs faster than ever.

Cabbage from nearby fields, Maine and Long Island potatoes, onions and the root crops such as beets, carrots, parsnips and white turnips all are regarded as outstanding buys by produce men this week. Onions are reported somewhat higher than last week, but still attractively priced, while potatoes are moving the other way.

Good Buys

Iceberg lettuce from western fields, broccoli, celery, peppers, sweet potatoes and new cabbage from southern and western patches are labelled good buys. Celery prices are marked down, although the pascal type is still somewhat high.

Corn and tomatoes are coming down in price, but the condition of the latter is generally irregular. Recent heavy rains in Florida have sent bean prices up.

The citrus big three—oranges, grapefruit and tangerines — again head the best buy list at fruit counters, although they're a little higher than last week. Grapes also advanced in price.

Shipments of peaches, plums, nectarines and honeydew melons are arriving from Chile, along with pears from Argentina, but produce men say the imports are too high in price to be rated a good buy.

Trial Run

Oshkosh, Wis. (AP)—"Take it home and give your wife a ride," the salesman at a used car lot told Melvin Kuehn. So Kuehn, says he took the auto to the home of his divorced wife and showed it to her. As a result, a federal warrant for auto theft was issued against Kuehn. The used car lot is in Toledo, Ohio. His ex-wife lives in Oshkosh.

A brand new look in beauty soap!

Gayla— America's first clear complexion soap with lanolin!

You'll love the way it makes you feel... fresh, fragrant, really clean!

So clear you can see it's as pure as can be!

Hold a bar of GAYLA to the light! Here's the soap with nothing to hide! You can actually see its purity. In fact, GAYLA is the purest bar of soap money can buy!

So satin-soft to the touch you know it must be milder!

You've never felt soap so luxurious as this before! Even in cold, hard water, GAYLA feels so nice in your hands . . . so smooth you know it must be kinder to your skin!

Gives you more lather faster: a luxurious lanolized lather!

You get more lather quicker with GAYLA . . . a creamy, rich, lanolized lather that instantly clears clogged pores. And GAYLA lasts longer . . . washes down to the last sliver without cracking or breaking!

WONDER BAR! That's GAYLA. There's never been anything like this clear, green bar. It's made by an exclusive process no other toilet soap can use!

What's more, GAYLA actually beauty-treats your skin every time you bathe. Its luxurious lanolized lather goes to work instantly . . . reminds you of an expensive cream as it clears clogged pores of dirt and make-up.

Yes, skin care becomes wonderfully simple, every bath simply wonderful, with GAYLA. Yet, as you soon discover, GAYLA is one luxury you can easily afford. And it's unconditionally guaranteed by Lever Brothers. You like it—it likes you...or we'll disappointedly refund every penny you paid!

Dior Introduces Another Long New Look; 'Liberty Line' Is Now Below Mid-Calf

Paris, Jan. 31 (AP)—Christian Dior today celebrated his 10th anniversary as the top Paris designer with another long new look.

Unveiling his "Liberty Line" collection of spring fashions, he dropped skirts by a good four inches—to more than mid-calf—and encased the feminine torso in a slim tube, hobble-tight below and with daringly low and wide necklines.

Many of the afternoon dresses came to the bottom of the calf and some almost to the ankle. Allowing for very high heels, Dior's new length seems to vary between 14 and perhaps eight incnes from the floor.

It was another break with other Paris designers who are featuring hemlines 16 inches or so above the floor. But across the Channel Dior already has support in British designers who've lowered their hems to 13 inches from the ground.

However, Dior's new length is not a fashion revolution of the proportions of his new look of just 10 years ago. He paved the way with a dozen long dresses last season — now he lets the ladies choose between longer and longest.

The model Dior calls "1957" to typify his new line is a slinky tube, unfitted in back with an overskirt to the bottom of the calf, V-slit in front to show a midcalf-length sheath beneath.

Other even more drastic models are completely unfitted stovepipe tubes. Bottom-of-calf length after-dark dresses drop a panel train to the floor behind.

A new three-piece suit is a top favorite for daytime wear. It has a slim skirt with two V-pleats at the hem to aid walking, a short top which zips down the back and a hiplength belted coat like a tropical bush jacket called "Sahara."

Dior's new colors are navy, sky-blue, white and off white, beige and red.

Bathing-suit decolletage leaves arms bare and shows a lot of shoulder and bosom. Otherwise sleeves are elbow length.

Bell-skirted formals come to the bottom of the calf and are strewn with high relief applique of lilies of the valley or other tiny flowers. Most are strapless. Long ballroom dresses often feature trains.

Suits have loose, low necklines filled in with draped chiffon scraves, blouses, or multiple-string beads. Coats are handsomely slender, buttoned to near the hem. Low cuff necklines are so popular they even appear on jackets and coats.

Small-brimmed hats are back. A new shape has a deep brim at the back, but is trimmed in front to show the face. Shoes are very high heeled and pointed.

Belts are two or three inches wide, and usually of the same material as the jacket or dress.

A casual jacket or top is seen throughout the collection. It has the semi-fitted screw waist and just touches the hips. Quite a few skirts are pleated in big flat folds. Some have the coupped-in hem so popular in other collections this season.

Hospital Auxiliary Continues Working On Redecorating Plan

At the January meeting of the Kingston Hospital Auxiliary, reports were given by the various committee chairmen.

Mrs. Adrian Kaplan reported the addition of five new volunteer workers for the volunteer desk program and a financial report on the sales cart showed a decided increase in sales over the past two months.

Four new members, the Mmes. Albert Salzmann, Clarence Rowland Jr., John Shults Jr. and Clifford Williams, were welcomed into the organization.

Mrs. Frederic Holcomb Sr. and Mrs. Harold Bailey gave a report on the progress of the redecoration program for the nurses' residence. Each room has been equipped with new venetian blinds and drapes and a modern type of desk lamp and new mirrored cabinets have been placed in as many rooms as possible. This work was made possible by the allocation of $1,000 by the Auxiliary last November for this project. In order to complete the present phase of the plan the Auxiliary, at this January meeting, voted to spend an additional $500 for the purchase of other necessary items for this redecoration work.

A special committee was also set up to investigate other ways in which additional funds might be raised to further enlarge the scope of the present redecoration program.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. T. R. Smalldon and Mrs. Warren Simmons.

WAS HUSBAND RUDE?

The following letter is from a man: "The other evening I was deeply engrossed in a book I was reading when the doorbell rang and it was one of my wife's friends. I greeted her and after a few minutes picked up my book and continued to read. My wife thinks I was very rude and that I should have put the book aside and joined in the conversation. Was I wrong?

Your wife was right and you were very rude. You could, however, have excused yourself and gone into another room to continue your reading.

Wearing Napkin as Bib

Dear Mrs. Post: To settle a friendly argument, will you please tell us if it is permissible, according to table manners etiquette, for a man to tuck his napkin in the collar of his shirt? A friend of mine claims that he is sure he read your approval of this in one of your newspaper columns. Will you please settle?

Answer: Whatever column it was, I am sure it was not mine. Tucking the napkin in at the chin is on the same par as a baby's bib and certainly is not correct for grown people who are supposed to know how to eat.

Shower for Bride in Mourning

Dear Mrs. Post: I had planned to give a shower for a friend of mine who is to be married in two months. However, her mother died suddenly three weeks ago and I would like to know if it would be proper to go ahead with the shower. The marriage is going to take place as planned but will be very quiet with only the members of both families present.

Answer: Since the marriage is still going to take place and only the bride's most intimate friends are invited to a shower, it will be entirely proper to give your shower.

Chicago Singer Wins In Vocal Contest; Gets Met Audition

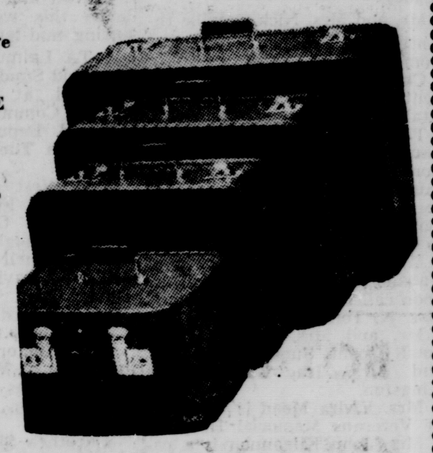

Buffalo, Jan. 31 (AP)—A Chicago singer today was the first prize winner in a national singing contest sponsored by the National Assn. of Teachers of Singing.

Miss Alice Riley was named the winner last night after competing with four other finalists at the Association's convention here.

A soprano, Miss Riley was awarded $500 and auditions with the Metropolitan Opera Co., the San Francisco Opera Co., and the Chicago Lyric Theater.

Mrs. Janiece Epke of Buffalo, a lyric soprano, was second, and Mrs. Darlene Evers, Alburquerque, N. M., a contralto, was third. The other contestants were Miss Carol Jean Larsen of Des Moines, Iowa, a contralto, and Miss Virginia Bitar of Los Angeles, a lyric soprano.

The association's four-day convention closes tomorrow.

Inmate Leaves $10,000

Florence, Ariz., Jan. 31 (AP)—Tom Sisson, who was the oldest inmate in the state prison when he died last week at 86, left an estate of almost $10,000. He willed the money to a fellow prisoner. Former Warden Alva Weaver, the executor of Sisson's estate, said yesterday the money was saved by "Old Tom" from a pension he earned as a U. S. Army Indian scout in the 1880s. Sisson was sentenced to a life term in 1918 for his part in the murder of three officers who attempted to arrest Tom and John Powers in a mountain hideaway for World War 1 draft dodging. But John Powers, who inherits the $10,000, won't go rushing out to spend it. He's in for life, too.

New Team System Aids Nurses at Kingston Hospital; Administrators Discuss Trends

By DOROTHY A. NAREL
Freeman Society Editor

Capping exercises for nurses' aides at the Kingston Hospital yesterday, marked the beginning of a new system launched in an effort to relieve nurses from performing tasks which could be delegated to these employes.

A persistent and increasing demand by individual nurses, hospital administrators and medical, hospital and nursing organizations throughout the country for assistance in developing practical ways to train auxiliary nursing personnel in the simple tasks they usually perform has been responsible for Nursing Aide in-service project.

This team plan is now in use in most of the larger hospitals.

Receiving their official uniforms yesterday were Miss Pearl Johnston and the Mmes. Julia Meyers, Alice Jeney, May Conlon, Julia Kane, Marguerite Larsen, Hazel Houghtaling, Grace Wojciechowski, Mary McGowan, Helen Vogt, Edna May Hymes, Geraldine Davis, Nellie Gillen, Angela Culjack, Dorothy Kithcart and Berniece Williams.

"Most nursing service administrations today are faced with the question of how to have maximum performance with a minimum staff," Miss Rosemary Pellegrino, director of Nursing Service and Nursing Education at the hospital said in a personal interview.

"With the induction of our new team plan, we hope to solve part of that problem."

This plan has the approval of the American Nursing Association and the National League for Nursing.

Nurses Are Needed

The adoption of a team plan not only in the Kingston Hospital but throughout the United States as well, emphasizes the national demand for graduate nurses.

Hospitals have become dependent upon aides and auxiliary members simply because the supply of nurses cannot meet the demand and assistance in performing tasks other than pure nursing is urgently needed.

One would naturally assume that the shortage might be caused by a drop in enrollment in nursing schools throughout the country. A review of statistics in "Facts About Nursing" published by the National League for Nursing, will reveal that such is not the case. Enrollment has risen but graduate nurses now have a wider field from which to choose. More hospitals are being built, various fields such as public health nursing, industrial, American Red Cross, private duty, general duty, educational administrators, consultants, teachers and special groups have increased their demands for graduates.

Salary appeal is another strong factor for drawing girls into secretarial positions, even clerical jobs, instead of hospitals.

"We, in the field, realize the need to increase salaries throughout hospitals," Mr. Schnitzer, Kingston Hospital administrator said, "in order to keep pace with all wage levels on the outside. The wider the gap becomes, the more attractive other opportunities are. The limiting factor, of course, is the resources which the hospital has available."

Nursing Is Craft Work

As Mr. Schnitzer further pointed out, automation has come into industry. It has made it possible for industry to widen its profit margins and return it to the worker. Hospital work is still a craft industry. There are very limited ways in which automation can help in the care of patients.

"With each raise in salary, it must be realized that there are very few ways in which that cost can be returned to patient care," he said.

Sister Callista, director of nurses at the Benedictine Hospital School of Nursing, always gives this bit of advice to new students.

"The type of work you will have to do, you cannot be paid for in dollars and cents. You must be dedicated. If you are not, you will find that your chores will become monotonous, you will lose interest. The spirit of devotion to your work must be within you."

Sister Callista, in a personal interview, pointed out that there was a time when nurses received $70 a month for a 60-hour work week. Today, they work 40 hours and are getting three times as much.

The basic starting salary for a nurse at the Benedictine is $240 a month, meals included. The evening shift receives a $15 increment, night shift, $10.

Starting salary for general duty at the Kingston Hospital is $242 per month and $226 per month for night duty. Nurses in both hospitals also receive annual increments.

Four years of giving baths, scrubbing wards, witnessing pain and death, doesn't sound easy or glamorous. Exactly how rewarding a career is it?

In the opinion of one nurse, "from the sorrow of death, I learn sympathy; from the patience of the handicapped I gain fortitude; in the eyes of the suffering I see Christians grow in charity."

(Tomorrow: "Nursing as a Career")

Onteora Adult Classes Opened Wednesday Night

First classes of the Onteora spring Adult Education session began Wednesday night in the school building with subjects including forum, medical aide, millinery and recreation.

Tonight from 7:15 to 10:05 o'clock the following classes will be in session: Americanization, ceramics, chorus, cooking, crafts, creative writing, dramatics, driver education, guitar, instrumental music, metal working, millinery (advanced), parent-teacher discussion series, photography, piano, physical fitness, radioactive fallout, sewing, Spanish, typing and woodworking.

Registration for these classes will be accepted at the time the class convenes.

According to William H. Deming, director of the program it is anticipated that approximately 400 district residents will avail themselves of the opportunity to participate.

Area Methodist Parish Conducts Quarterly Parley

Stone Ridge Methodist Parish held its fourth quarterly conference in the church hall of the Stone Ridge Church Tuesday evening under the supervision of Dr. John M. Pearson, superintendent of the Newburgh District of the Methodist Church.

Recently appointed to the superintendency by Frederick Buckley Newell, bishop of the New York Area, Dr. Pearson succeeds the Rev. G. Roy Bragg who has been appointed to the Metropolitan Duane Methodist Church, New York city.

Pastor At Hancock

Before coming to his present position, Dr. Pearson was pastor of Hancock Methodist Church. He has served pastorates in Bedford Hills, Dobbs Ferry and Washington Square and was at one time associate pastor of Madison Avenue Methodist Church now known as Christ Church, New York city. Dr. Pearson was district superintendent of the New York District from 1939 to 1945 under Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam.

The conference was called to order with devotional services conducted by Dr. Pearson with Mrs. Roy Ransom accompaniment. Mrs. Lansing A. Hunt was elected to serve as recording secretary for the meeting and the reports of the commissions of the three churches, Accord, Stone Ridge and Kripplebush were recorded during this annual meeting.

Accord Reports

For the Accord Methodist Church the following members of the official board gave reports as follows: Commission on education, Mrs. Ross Coddington; commission on missions, Mrs. Burton Marshall; commission on membership and evangelism, Mr. Coddington; board of trustees, Raymond Lawrence and Lanny Lawrence, assistant superintendent of Church school.

Reporting for the Kripplebush Church: Commission on education, Julius Haener; commission on missions, Mrs. Uriah Conner; commission on membership and evangelism, Mrs. Chester O. Miller; commission on finance, Mrs. Kenneth Davis; board of trustees, Claude Christiana and Robert Hough, financial secretary.

Stone Ridge Reports

The following gave reports for the Stone Ridge Church: Commission on education, Archie Lawrence; commission on missions, Mrs. Lawrence; commission on finance, Ernest S. Howard; Women's Society of Christian Service, Mrs. George Shea; nominating committee, Roy L. Ransom; lay leader's report, Ward Jansen; report on the Methodist Men, Norton A. Lawrence; Youth fellowship, J. Dudley Goodwin, president; Nancy Larsen, treasurer; Kenneth Osterhoudt, treasurer of community projects.

DR. J. M. PEARSON

Reporting for the auditing committee, Mrs. Hunt and Mrs. Clifford A. Basten.

The pastor of the Stone Ridge Parish, the Rev. George I. Goodwin received a unaimous call to return for another year. In accepting the call the Rev. Mr. Goodwin thanked the members of the churches for their loyal support. He proceeded with his report to the conference and closed the report by directing the attention of the conference members to the chart prepared in color to reveal the planned program and the progress made "Toward a More Effective Church." This showed the result of meetings with the various commissions of the churches to plan for the new year.

At the close of the meeting Dr. Pearson was invited to return at a future date to show slides of the Missionary Journey he and Mrs. Pearson made in November and December 1956 to India and other points on a world tour. Mrs. Pearson is chairman woman's work in foreign fields, Woman's Division of Christian Service, New York Conference.

4 Die in Cold

Istanbul, Jan. 31 (AP) — Winter's grip choked communications and brought death today to at least four persons in Turkey's frigid highlands. In the city of Malatya in southeastern Anatolia, water mains were frozen by temperatuers that fell to 22 degrees below zero. A raging fire in the city's central business district destroyed 30 shops, causing an estimated million dollars damage. Wolf packs roaming through Malatya attacked and killed scores of dogs. One man was found frozen to death.

Strike Is Crushed

Algiers, Jan. 31 (AP) — Thousands of troops and police with a huge fleet of military vehicles kept Algeria's capital going today as a four-day Nationalist rebel strike petered out. Because of the stern military action, the National Liberation Movement (FLN) had seriously affected the daily lives of greater Algiers' 700,000 people for only one day. Four basic techniques had crushed the strike, which was widely successful during its first day.

The Mature Parent

Child Likes to Work Out Use of New Toys Himself

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

On her third birthday, Patty's parents gave her a maroon doll carriage. It had a hood that could be raised or lowered. It had a pedal brake. But to Patty, its most exciting merit was the discovery that it was spacious enough to accommodate Mub and Chuckles, her stuffed duck and rag doll, at the same time.

After wheeling them excitedly about the living room, she suddenly decided to take on still another passenger. As she was stuffing her brown gingham elephant between Mub and Chuckles, her father said, "Let's see you put up the hood, baby."

She didn't understand him. So he took Babar out of her hand, set him aside; and raising the carriage hood began to explain its operation.

Gradually her feeling of happy certainty toward the doll carriage was replaced by one of discouragement. By the time she'd learned to operate the hood to her father's satisfaction, she'd lost all interest in taking Babar on his tour of the house.

She hasn't played much with the carriage since.

Children are not only people who prefer to work out use of their possessions themselves. If we're not allowed to, we adults lose our interest in them just as Patty did.

If a mother-in-law tells us how to set the table whenever she comes to dinner, we'll lose interest in having her to dinner. If Billy's nursery school teacher is always hinting that she could raise him better than we do, we may drearily think, "Oh, this motherhood job is beyond me and I better go back to work!"

In these demands to change the way we do something, whether it's playing with a toy or raising a child, we sense hidden criticism of us—and to get rid of the discouragement it arouses in us, may just stop doing anything at all.

So, if we want children to make happy use of the toys we buy them, it's not very bright to imply we can use them better.

Billy needs time to just sit in his new automobile before we introduce him to its pedals. Kathy will give her Didy doll's nursing bottle five times the appreciation if we withhold it until she's used to the fun of dressing and undressing the doll.

But when we show impatience with children's use of new toys, they solve the problem of our criticism by avoiding the toys.

VFW Loyalty Day Essay Contest Starts on Monday

Saugerties, Jan. 31—The Saugerties Loyalty Day essay contest in conjunction with the annual observance sponsored by Saugerties Memorial Post 5034, VFW, will begin Monday and continue until March 4, according to Mrs. Frank Meyer, contest chairman.

The theme for this year's contest is "What Loyalty Means to America's Future." The contest is open to all pupils in the town of Saugerties.

According to Bernard E. McCutcheon, publicity chairman of the Loyalty Day Committee, the annual essay contest is one of the most important features of the observance.

Requirements for the contest will be outlined in the various schools in the township.

Four prizes, first $10, second $5, third $5 and $2 consolation prizes are awarded in each of three grades including ninth through 12th, seventh through eighth and fourth through sixth.

In addition to the prizes VFW medals will be awarded first prize winners.

Last year's winner was Zane Lauva, a senior at Saugerties Central High School. Miss Lauva was the first prize winner and was later designated as Miss Loyalty.

Judges for the contest will be named later.

Cub Scout Pack 32 Will Meet Tonight

Saugerties, Jan. 31—Cub Scout Pack 32 of Atonement Lutheran Church will conduct its regular monthly meeting in the social hall of the church tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

Cubmaster Roy Weber will preside over the meeting which will begin with Den One providing the opening ceremony. Mrs. George V. Dennis is den mother.

William C. Plimley, advancement chairman of the Pack, will conduct an advancement program and award Arrow Points. Included in this program will be an Indian graduation ceremony for the two members of the Webelos Den who will be graduated into Boy Scout Troop 32 at Atonement Lutheran Church.

The two dens of the Pack will display their talents for the theme of the month, "Eyes in the Sky" when they take off in their space ship and pretend to fly around Saturn and land on Mars or the Moon.

Richard Stewart, post advisor of Post 12, Kingston, will be the speaker of the evening. Mr. Stewart's hobby is Astronomy and his talk and slides will be of great interest to the boys and their parents.

Refreshments will be served on the mythical stars by George Dennis and Eugene Davis.

Den three, under Mrs. Plimley's leadership will conduct the closing ceremony.

To List Scout Week Plans at Roundtable

Saugerties, Jan. 31 — Final plans for the observance of National Boy Scout Week in Saugerties during Feb. 10 to 16 will be outlined at the regular monthly Saugerties District meeting and rountables Thursday, Feb. 7 at 7:45 p. m. in West Camp parish hall.

Boy Scout Troop 130 and Explorer Post 130 will serve as hosts.

In order to be eligible for judging in the window display contest, a feature of the observance, each unit must submit in writing the name and location of the store exhibiting the display, according to District Commissioner William C. Plimley. Notice must be received by February 5.

A highlight of the observance will be the district rally Monday, Feb. 11 at 7 p. m. in Saugerties Municipal auditorium.

During the week Scouts elected to the various municipal offices will serve in these capacities for one day, designated Saugerties Scout Day.

West Camp Church Activities Listed

Saugerties, Jan. 31—A schedule of activities for St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church of West Camp was announced today by the Rev. Alvin F. Messersmith, pastor.

A food and bake sale will be conducted by Cementon Auxiliary Saturday beginning at 10 a. m. in the Cementon School. Food articles will be picked up if transportation is needed. Mrs. John J. Prendergast of West Camp and Mrs. Roy J. Potts of Cementon are in charge of transportation.

A parish cabinet meeting will be held in the parish hall Saturday at 7 p. m. All organizations in the church will send two representatives to the session.

The Sunday worship service will be held at 11 a. m. and Sunday school is held in the parish hall at 9:30 a. m. A church council meeting will be held directly after Sunday service. Luther League meets at 6 o'clock Sunday evening.

The regular meeting of the United Lutheran Church Women will be held Thursday at 1 p. m. in the home of Mrs. Ray J. Potts.

West Camp Auxiliary will hold a cleaning bee Wednesday morning in the parish hall. Junior and senior choirs meet Wednesday evening at 6:45 and 7:30 respectively.

West Camp Auxiliary holds its regular monthly meeting in the parish hall Thursday, Feb. 7 with a covered dish supper served at 6 p. m.

In place of the regular meeting of the Young Couples Club Friday, Feb. 8 at 8 p. m. in the parish hall a Valentine box social and game night will be held.

ROSENDALE NEWS

Attendance Vital At School Meetings

Rosendale, Jan. 30—The regular monthly meeting of St. Peter's School Association was held Jan. 23 at the school hall. Association meetings are scheduled for the third Wednesday of each month, but due to inclement weather, the January meeting was postponed from the 16th to the 23d.

Mrs. Arthur O'Leary, president of the association, stressed the importance of regular attendance at meetings, saying that "many advantages are to be gained for our school children through the cooperation of all parents of children attending St. Peter's school. Regular attendance at all meetings will keep parents abreast of the accomplishments and progress which is made during the year." Mrs. O'Leary also pointed out that membership is not limited to parents who have children in the school, but to all adult members of the parish.

Mrs. Stephen Huben spoke on ways and means of making the "home articles booth" bigger and better than ever. This booth is one of the most important ones at the annual bazaar which is held annually. She suggested that a large committee be formed now, to sew, knit, embroider, crochet and make attractive and valuable articles for this booth. Mrs. Huben indicated that while this booth was an outstanding adjunct in the success of the bazaar, by following proposed plans, sales could be more than doubled.

The next meeting of the St. Peter's School Association will be held Wednesday, Feb. 20, at 7:30 p. m. at the school hall.

It was announced that the food sale which the association sponsored Jan. 26 at the town clerk's office, was successful, with $70 being realized from the sale.

Village Notes

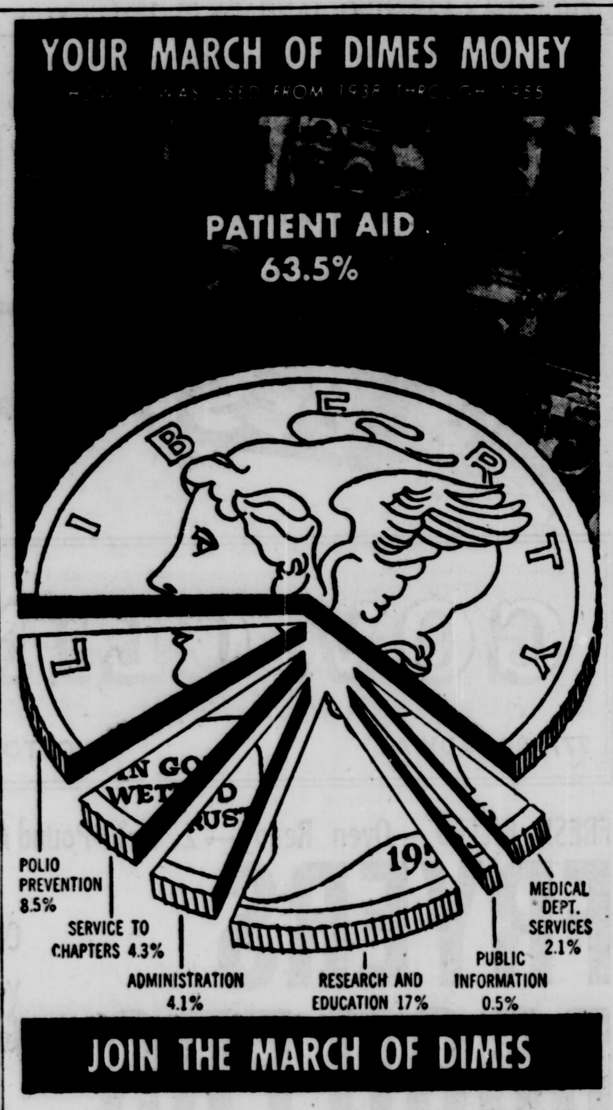

The Bloomingdale Extension Service unit held a work meeting for a Valentine Pot Luck luncheon to take place Tuesday, Feb. 12. The business meeting will start at 11 a. m. and lunch will take place following the business session. Members may invite friends to attend. A cookie sale will also be held at the firehall.

The regular meeting of the Democratic Club of Rosendale was held at Reid's Hotel Jan. 24. The guest speaker was William Curran, attorney. Mr. Curran plans to make his future home in Rosendale with his wife and two children. They now reside at Maple Hill.

Among the visitors present were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Carroll of the Hurley Democratic Club, and Harry Waage of the West Hurley Democratic Club. Mr. Carroll gave an interesting talk, followed by a question and answer period. Refreshments were served. The next meeting of the club will be held Thursday, Feb. 28 at Reid's Hotel.

Hens Lay on Coldest Days

Air Conditioning Helps Egg Production at Russak Farm

An area poultryman says his personal experience with air conditioning is bound to revolutionize the industry from the standpoint of profits.

He is Martin Russak of High Falls whose flock of 3600 Heisdorf-Nelson white leghorns have sustained production of eggs right through the extremely cold third week in January.

It's an insulation proposition, he claims, that has paid off in keeping his flock at temperatures the hens enjoy. Insulated glass permits winter sunshine to heat the house, and heavily insulated walls keep the animal heat in during the cold winter nights. Fresh air is brought in through a pipe buried deep in the earth.

By harnessing these natural forces he succeeded in keeping his poultry house at 44 degrees when the temperature dropped to 19½ degrees below zero. Abundant fresh air was supplied constantly to the hens.

The idea of using insulating glass to trap the winter rays of the sun in poultry houses was first proposed by Dr. Glenn O. Bressler, celebrated poultry researcher of Penn State University.

Planned by Sturges

Mr. Russak engaged Paul M. Sturges of Stone Ridge, heat recovery specialist, to air condition the new house. Sturges recommended burying a 24-inch corrugated culvert pipe, 300 feet long, eight feet deep in the ground, to permit the air to pick up free heat before being introduced into the house.

Sole power supplied in this air conditioning system is electricity to a ½ h.p. Propellair Robbins and Myers 24-inch fan which runs constantly. In good weather two Ranco three pole thremotats run motorized dampers which permit the fan to blow outside air straight into the house without going through the tunnel.

Reverse in Summer

In summer the system works in reverse. A shading ledge keeps the direct rays of the sun from penetrating the insulating glass, the insulation keeps out summer heat, and the earth cooled air carries off the animal heat.

Mr. Russak receives his blue-blooded chicks by plane from a breeding farm in the state of Washington. His hatching eggs all go to Hecht's Hatchery in Walden.

Sturges Theory

Sturges holds that humidity is the prime vitiating factor of poultry house air. Dr. H. Karl Knaust Jr., director of research of Knaust Brothers, mushroom growers, has pointed out that ammonia fumes in poultry droppings are generated only in the presence of moisture. It follows that if the internal temperature can be kept high enough to keep the drying power of the air at a high level, ammonia fumes can be retarded or eliminated entirely, and less air supplied.

In the Russak house, excellent conditions have been obtained on less than one cubic foot of air per minute per bird.

Russak Enthusiastic

On a visit to the Russak Farm in company of Malcolm MacKay, Ful-O-Pep salesman for the Quaker Oats Company, and Mr. Sturges, a Freeman reporter found Mr. Russak most enthusiastic over the system.

Not only are there no windows to open or close but the flock is fed by a mechanical feeder turned on and off by a time clock. The waterers are automatic and never freeze over. Eggs and manure are carried on conveyers. The air conditioning has also greatly improved working conditions.

Visitors are normally discouraged but Mr. Russak said he was not adverse to interested poultrymen contacting Paul Sturges at Stone Ridge, who would make an appointment for inspection of the plant.

To insure that the insulating glass would have a perfect southern exposure, two pegs were lined up on the North Star. Air supply fittings were custom made by A. B. Shufeldt of Universal Road Machinery Co. of Kingston. A corrugated aluminum roofing and siding made especially for farm buildings was obtained from Quaker State Metals Co.

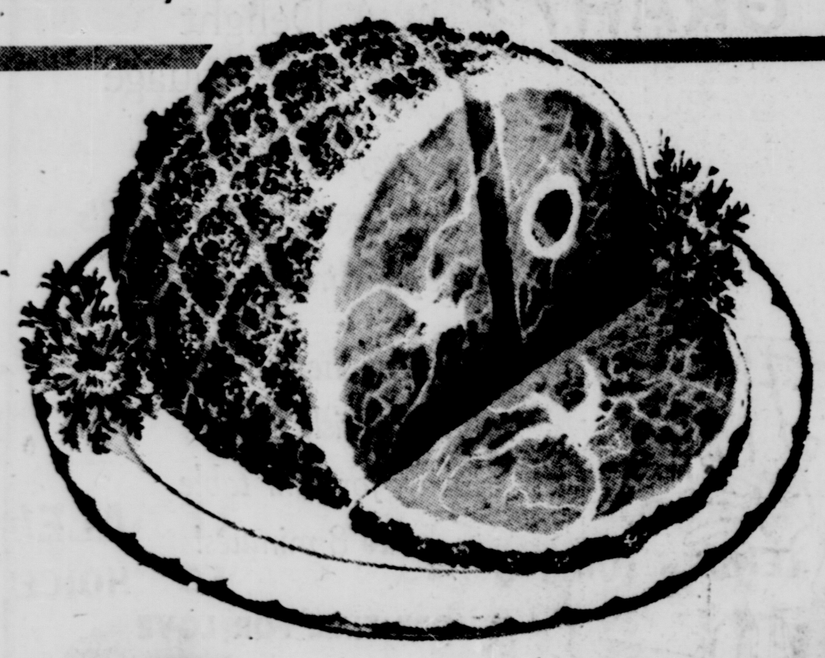

Man Is Bludgeoned

Schenectady, N. Y., Jan. 31 (AP) —A 60-year-old man was found bludgeoned to death today in suburban Rotterdam. Police said Mrs. Florence Marshall found the body of her husband, Gordon, R., on the front seat of his car in the garage at his home. He had been hit on the head with a wooden object, police said. They said that Marshall had been seen in a Rotterdam tavern last night and that there were reports he had been involved in an argument there.

Mediators Try Again to Avert Oil Craft Strike

New York, Jan. 31 (AP)—Federal and city mediators will try again today to avert a strike at midnight tonight by some 3,000 crewmen of tugboats and oil craft in New York harbor.

However, after a short mediation session broke up yesterday, Federal Mediator Thomas G. Dougherty said both union leaders and employers "are far apart in their positions."

Nothing Gained

"We really didn't accomplish anything in terms of a solution," he said.

The crewmen are members of Local 333, United Marine Division of the National Maritime Union. They man the barges which bring in most of the city's oil and gasoline and also serve on tugs which dock and undock big ocean liners and other vessels which use the port.

Management is represented by the Marine Towing and Transportation Employers Assn.

The union voted last Sunday to strike. Local president Joseph O'Hare said this week that a strike would come even if a contract agreement was reached by the midnight deadline.

O'Hare said it would take at least three days to call off the walkout.

Among numerous union demands are an 18 per cent pay increase. The employers have offered a 7 per cent pay boost for the first year and a 5 per cent hike in the second year of a two-year contract.

Crewmen's pay currently ranges from $1.76 an hour for unlicensed personnel to $2.80 hourly for captains.

In view of the imminent strike, the city administration has drafted plans for saving fuel.

City Health Commissioner Leona Baumgartner said there was no immediate "cause for alarm" over oil shortages but she urged "intelligent conservation" throughout the city.

When you sign a letter "sincerely" you are really writing the Latin words meaning "without wax." In brief, you swear to the honesty of what you have written in the letter.

Hercules Sales

volved in the $34 million construction program were new or improved manufacturing facilities for chemical cotton, CMC cellulose gum, dynamite, Hi-fax ethylene polymer, Kymene wet-strength resin, methanol, nitrocellulose, paracresol and its derivative di-tertiary-butyl-paracresol, pentaerythritol, rosin derivatives, tall oil fractionation, toxaphene dust concentrate, and a new technical information building at the Research Center.

Three New Ventures

Mr. Forster told Hercules stockholders that: "The year 1956 saw also the entry of the company into three new ventures." These involved the wood naval stores industry in Mexico; acquisition of assets in The Huron Milling Company of Michigan; and formation of a new company, Hawthorn Chemical Corporation, to manufacture methyl methacrylate, with Hercules and Imperial Chemical Industries Limited each to own 50 per cent of the common stock.

The Hercules annual report showed that 16 per cent of the company's production was consumed during 1956 by the protective coatings industry, 13 per cent by the paper industry, 11 per cent in mining and quarrying, 10 per cent in synthetic fibers, 8 per cent in agricultural chemicals, 7 per cent in plastics, 6 per cent each by the rubber and petroleum industries, 3 per cent each by construction and identifiable military uses, 2 per cent in adhesives, and 15 per cent by others.

Building Rocket

Mr. Forster said that a third and final stage rocket for Project Vanguard is being designed and built at Allegany Ballistics laboratory, the Navy Bureau of Ordnance facility operated by Hercules. The third stage rocket will boost the man-made earth satellite to a speed of 18,000 miles an hour in its orbit around the earth.

The company's president also reported that original participants in the Employe Savings Plan, authorized by stockholders in March 1956, represented approximately 60 per cent of the eligible employes in the company's commercial plants. "Their savings amounted to approximately 7 per cent of their total compensation," Mr. Forster said.

Noting that industry in general would be affected by any significant changes in either the national or international situation, Mr. Forster concluded his letter to stockholders by stating: "Subject to such contingencies, however, we anticipate that 1957 will be somewhat more favorable than 1956 for Hercules."

Hercules stockholders received, in addition to the 1956 annual report, a colorful, thirty-two-page publication entitled "How Hercules Helps," which showed the use of Hercules products in consumer goods and by industry. The booklet also contains a history of the company's growth since its inception in October 1912.

Mrs. Wilson Scores Ike

Washington, Jan. 31 (AP)—Mrs. Charles E. Wilson says President Eisenhower made "uncalled for" remarks in saying her husband, the secretary of defense, made a "very . . . unwise statement" about some national guardsmen. Eisenhower made the comment yesterday when asked about Wilson's statement that some of those who enlisted in the guard during the Korean war dodged the draft. Eisenhower, while calling this unwise, said he agrees with Wilson that all new guard recruits should take six months of active basic training.

Bedwell Admits Confession of Slaying Was Lie

Chicago, Jan. 31 (AP)—Edward (Bennie) Bedwell, illiterate young Skid Row dishwasher, says he did not kill the Grimes sisters and the lengthy statement he gave to sheriff's officials admitting the slayings was a lie.

Bedwell testified in Criminal Court yesterday that he signed a 14-page confession after four days of questioning because "the sheriff's men beat and kicked me."

The 21-year-old derelict retracted the confession at a hearing on a writ of habeas corpus before Chief Justice Wilbert F. Crowley.

His attorney, David E. Bradshaw, demanded that Bedwell, who is charged with the murder of the Grimes sisters, Barbara, 15, and Patricia, 13, be admitted to bail on the ground that his purported confession is obviously false.

Bedwell was on the witness stand when the hearing recessed until today.

In the statement which Sheriff Joseph Lohman said Bedwell signed, the Skid Row drifter related that he and a companion named "Frank" had taken the Grimes sisters on a week-long sex and drinking spree.

Barclay Heights Petition Seeks 9W 35 MPH Zone

A petition containing names of over 50 Barclay Heights residents was filed with Saugerties Town Board seeking the establishment of a 35 MPH speed zone on Route 9W from the Glasco road at Schoentag's Hotel to the village line, it was announced today by Supervisor Peter M. Williams.

The petition is signed by many of the residents of the new housing developments bordering the state highway south of the village line.

At a special Town Board meeting held Tuesday night the proposal was approved and forwarded to the State Traffic and Control Commission for action.

Supervisor Williams said the board also approved the expenditure of having a special census taken in the township for the purpose of increasing the amount of state aid received by the township. The census is scheduled for April, he said.

office, which has been open until noon on Saturdays during January, will now be closed all day Saturday. Applicants will have to present the FS-1 insurance certificate as well as the renewal stub and he pointed out the need for accuracy on all applications, especially if sent by mail. All figures must correspond with the application and the insurance certificate, as well as the renewal stub.

When the office opened this morning all applications received by mail had been sent out and Craft said he was highly appreciative to the public for its cooperation during the rush period as well as to the office staff which worked hard to get applications out quickly.

The next problem facing motorists is the inspection of vehicles. Inspection stations are now being set up and older cars will be first required to pass inspection. A staggered system of inspection has been set up and older cars will be the ones first to come under the new state inspection law.

The schedule requires that 1938 and earlier cars may be inspected in February; 1939 to 1940 in March; 1941-1945 cars in April; 1946 cars in May; 1947 cars in June; 1948 cars in July; 1949 cars in August; 1950 cars in September; 1951 cars in October and 1952 cars in November.

Bill Starts Action

Introduction of the bill opens the way for immediate preparation of plans and possible start of construction before the end of the year.

State engineers have also indicated recently that several problems in conjunction with the city's arterial route plan have been solved and construction on that could get under way during the year.

11 Lose Lives In South Floods

(By The Associated Press)

Emergency aid was rushed into the Appalachian Mountain coal mining region today where thousands of persons in four states are homeless and whole towns in shambles from a devastating winter flood.

High waters that left at least 11 dead in two states and damages running into untold millions of dollars raced downstream today, threatening havoc on still more communities.

The flood that swept suddenly out of the mountains into southeastern Kentucky, West Virginia, southern Virginia and east Tennessee already was recorded as the region's worst in this century if not in history.

Gov. Cecil Underwood of West Virginia last night joined Kentucky's Gov. A. B. Chandler in petitioning President Eisenhower for immediate help. Eight of the dead were counted in Kentucky and three in West Virginia.

In Kentucky, Prestonsburg, Paintsville, and Beattyville shored up barriers against the onrushing Kentucky river even as mud-covered cities in the flood's wake called for portable generators, water purifiers and typhoid vaccine.

At least a thousand persons fled their homes at Prestonsburg where last night a fire broke out, destroying three buildings. All firemen could do was let it burn itself out and prevent it from spreading.

Opposes Compromise

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 31 (AP)—Gov. Harriman came out today against a compromise plan for development of Niagara power. Harriman said he was supporting a bill introduced in Congress by Sen. Joseph S. Clark Jr. (D-Pa.). Clark's bill would authorize the State Power Authority to proceed with the project and would give preference in the use of power to municipal and rural cooperatives. The compromise plan, to be introduced by Sen. Jacob K. Javits and Rep. William E. Miller, New York Republicans, calls for state development but contains no preference clause.

Ike Accepts . . .

high court 19 years ago today. He reached the age of 72 last Dec. 31. Present law permits federal judges to retire at 70 after 10 years service on the bench.

Reed's retirement pay will be $35,000 a year, the same as his salary on the high bench.

Reed's retirement is the second from the Supreme Court since its new term began last Oct. 1. Justice Sherman Minton retired Oct. 15, because of failing health.

Two other members of the high court are eligible for retirement, but neither has given any indication that he plans to step down. Justice Black will be 71 on Feb. 27 and Justice Frankfurter was 74 last Nov. 15.

Enjoys Retirement

Wadena, Sask. (AP)—Rosie, 31-year-old Clydesdale, doesn't have to work like a horse any more. After years of work in the fields and carrying children to school, Rosie now is the household pet on the Walfred Peterson farm near here, just eating and sleeping with an occasional run around the barnyard.

Onteora Central High Defeats Hunter-Tannersville, 68 to 62

Indians Lose Ace Pivot Man, Art Gribbins

Ace Ineligible For Five Weeks

Onteora Central had its ninth victory in 11 games in the record books today, but there was gloom on the Boiceville flats.

Coach Ed Witko's Indians knocked off a rugged Hunter-Tannersville combine, 68-62, in game that wasn't as close as the score indicates.

But inside the dressing room, the gloom was so thick you could cut it with a knife.

Art Gribbins, the tall, first string center, will be lost for the crucial stages of the UCAL campaign because of scholastic difficulties.

Out Five Weeks

Coach Witko said Gribbins, who poured 21 points through the net against H-T and had been averaging 12-plus in the UCAL, would be ineligible for at least five weeks. He will be available for Friday's game at Wallkill.

"That means he'll miss the remainder of the regular UCAL schedule," said the coach. "We're sure going to miss him but we'll have to rearrange our lineup the best we can."

Gribbins poured nine fields and three free throws through the hoop as the Indians dominated the game for three periods. They had quarter leads of 18-8, 35-18 and 54-32.

H-T Rally Nets 30

Then Coach Witko decided to throw in the subs. The mountaineers rallied for 30 points, slicing 16 points off the Onteora lead but the Indian mentor put the subs through the crucible right to the bitter end.

Ted Jensen scored 11 points and Lou Vanacore accounted for 12 for the Indians. High man for H-T was John Healey with 21 points. Three of the other four starters hit in double figures.

Bruce Widerspeil's 16 points paced the Onteora Jayvees to a 49-38 win in the prelim.

Bisons Sell Player

Buffalo, Jan. 31 (AP) — Outfielder George Bullard has been sold to Austin of the Class AA Texas League by the Buffalo Bisons of the International Baseball League. Buffalo officials announced the sale yesterday, but did not discolse the amount.

Al Rosen Quits And He Means It

Cleveland, Jan. 31 (AP)—Al Rosen says "nothing in the world" can make him change his mind about retiring from baseball.

The 33-year-old Cleveland third baseman said last fall that he would not be back this season, but that the formal announcement would have to come from the Indians.

He sent a note to friends and customers yesterday announcing that he would remain at his job as a stockbroker.

Asked about the note last night, Rosen said he made up his mind last October and that "nothing in the world" could make him change it.

He said he was asked last fall to delay a public announcement on his retirement plans, but that he couldn't wait any longer.

General Manager Hank Greenberg of the Cleveland club has been non-committal about Rosen's determination to retire, saying only that the third baseman was sent a contract along with other players on the roster.

Angels Top Cedaraps

Harry's Angels soared over the century mark again last night to crush Back's Cedaraps, 106-76, in the YMCA "A" League.

An explosive getaway that had them in front, 30-7, at the quarter broke the game apart before it started. The Angels were ahead 60-26 at the intermission.

Tice Leads With 23

Lloyd Tice, who has been burning up area basketball courts this season, led the Angels with 23 points. Big Bill Knott drilled 22. M. Anderson paced the Cedaraps with 14.

The pinboy is dead! Long live the automatic pinspotter!

The emperors of the alley pits have yielded to the inexorable march of progress. They have been replaced by the mechanized marvels of the atomic age.

If nothing else, the pinboy reaffirmed the dignity of labor. Palatial tenpin establishments that cost a million dollars to build were at the mercy of the 10 cents-a-line pinboy. When the pinsetter got tired or temperamental, the million-dollar projects came to a grinding halt.

The pinboy made his contributions to the bowling world. Great champions like Jimmy Smith, Barney Spinella, Joe Falcaro, Andy Varipapa and a host of others climbed from the grimy pits to the pinnacle of fame. The pinboys also contributed plenty of headaches to alley proprietors, bowling leagues and the public in general.

Never did a group have a better right or greater opportunity to organize itself, but, except for a few abortive attempts, it preferred to remain a faceless body of men and boys of all shapes and forms.

The pinboy was a legendary part of the game until automation set in. The job attracted a heterogenious group of workers . . . street urchins, old men, hustlers, young men with a few hours to kill, but they never achieved the dignity of the golf caddie, who is here to stay. Automation is affecting golf in the form of electric caddie carts but the bag-toter will never be entirely eclipsed from the golf scene. There is still no substitute for the greater enjoyment of the game via a caddie.

The human pinsetters will be missed but not too much. Before they pass into oblivion, however, they rate a salute from the millions of persons for whom they made tenpins possible. Meanwhile, the ulcer potential of alley proprietors will take a sharp nosedive as we enter a new era. Long live the automatics!

• Flotsam and Jetsam

A tip of the hat to Gladys Cohn of The Matinee Club for her 432 first "400" set of her career. . . . A new name in Poughkeepsie bowling—Tony Lucas—has smashed successive triples of 687, 675 and 638 in the Veterans League. On Poughkeepsie lanes, that's the equivalent of three "700s" in a row in Kingston. . . . If Jones Dairy blows the Hudson Valley League pennant, they can blame themselves for the 3-0 losses to Tony's Pizzeria and Mardi Bob Lanes. Their performances at Poughkeepsie border on the ridiculous. Who is the anonymous poison-pen letter and card writer in local bowling who is supposed to be replacing a hotshot who is plenty of trouble with one of the local major teams? The identification is simply too obvious to bother with names. Preston Bennett of the New Paltz lanes hopes for a good KBWA entry in his second Huguenot Sweepstakes. . . . If two Kingston teams tie for the HVBL pennant, we suggest Poughkeepsie as the playoff site.

• Changes Are Needed:

Look for some recommendations for sweeping changes in the Kingston Bowling Association handling of city tournaments in the future.

It is the feeling of this observer that the KBA should call a moratorium on the election of life members. If the directors insist on making life membership automatic on the expiration of a president's term, then it should do something to curb their voting powers.

If every KBA president is to be granted automatic life membership, we propose that they be made members of the Board of Directors with a vote and members of the Executive Committee without a vote. An entrenched "old guard" group should not dictate policies of the present. There is little sense in the bowlers electing officials to run their affairs, if an entrenched group can prevent them from doing so. The Executive Committee belongs to the rank and file and present day bowlers are quite capable of running their own affairs. If the elder statesmen are needed for advice or guidance they are available, but they should neither influence nor dictate policies of the day. Recent experience proves that some members of the old guard have either been unwilling or incapable of performing important assignments delegated to them. We think the time has come for the Kingston Bowling Association to make an agonizing reappraisal of itself.

Lane Clamors for Title Shot After Stopping Ryff in 6th

Norfolk, Va., Jan. 31 (AP) — Kenny Lane, the Muskegon, Mich., lightweight, is "ready for a title bout" and he's "prepared to post $75,000" for a shot at the championship.

So declared cagey old Doc Kearns, co-manager of Lane, after Lane's sixth round technical knockout last night over Frankie Ryff of New York in a nationally televised (ABC) bout.

"We'll win the lightweight title, then go on against the welterweights," Kearns enthused.

Lane, ranked the No. 2 contender for the lightweight title held by Joe Brown, had regarded this rematch with Ryff the kay fight in his bid to meet the winner of the Brown-Bud Smith title fight in Miami Feb. 13. Lane outpointed Ryff in their first bout last November.

He Felt Strong

"I felt good, stronger than usual," Lane said in his dressing room after the bout was stopped by Referee Paddy Mills because of a cut over Ryff's left eye. "I was satisfied with my left all the way but didn't get my right going until late. I was hitting Frankie solid with my right in the fifth and sixth rounds and felt I had it without the cut."

Lane, who has now won 11 fights in a row and 46 of 51 professional bouts, opened the cut over Ryff's eye early in the second round. The cut was reopened in the fifth round, but Dr. Ira Hancock allowed the fight to continue after examining Ryff between rounds.

The cut was reopened early in the sixth round and Mills stopped it after 32 seconds. At that point, Mills and Judges John Burton and Charles Ford all had awarded the first five rounds to Lane.

Blacktops Cop First Half in B League

Caruso Victory Over Accord Does the Trick

Caruso Insurance's 70-62 victory over Accord backed the Kingston Blacktops into the first half YMCA "B" League basketball crown last night.

The setback was the second for Accord and with it went its chance to tie the Blacktops, who completed their first round with seven wins and one loss.

Holstein on Spree

With George Holstein setting a blistering pace, the Insurancemen clung to a 50-49 edge at the end of three quarters and then ground out a 20-13 edge in the stretch run.

Holstein wrecked Accord's pennant hopes with a 32-point barrage on 15 baskets and two free throws. Charlie Tiano gave an able assist with 19 points.

Bob Edelman swished 26 for Accord and Werner Wustrau hooped 19.

Von Hess-Ricki Starr In Wrestling Feature

TV Sensations Here February 13

Two of westling's top TV headliners of the day—Karl Von Hess and Ricki Starr—have been matched to meet in Kingston on Wednesday, Feb. 13, at the municipal auditorium.

The merry madcaps of matdom have been missing from the local sports since before the holiday period.

Starr has developed into something of a national sensation on the Thusday night television network out of Washington. He is billed from Hollywood, stands 6 feet 5 inches and weighs 240 pounds.

Von Hess, who was born in Prussia, is a giant 6 foot 6 import who scales at 235 pounds. He is fast acquiring a reputation as one of the meanest men in the racket.

The remainder of the card will be announced later.

Jack Nelson of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., fourth in the Olympic 200-meter butterfly swim, formerly swam on the North Carolina freshman team.

Kingston at New PHS Gym; Sawyers, Onteora Set in UCAL

Bigger Floor Gives Maroons Chance for Upset

Kingston High will be cast in the role of "spoiler" Friday night when it invades Poughkeepsie High's brand new gym in the Forbus street building for a battle with the pace-setting Pioneers.

That contest is one of four on the agenda for the DUSO League. Other games listed are Liberty at Monticello, Middletown at Newburgh and Ellenville at Fallsburgh.

The defeat by Middletown Tuesday spelled the end of KHS's chances in the race. Although not mathmatically out of contention, Kingston's hopes are all but dead. At the halfway mark in the schedule, the locals stand 3-5 and in seventh place, four games behind the Pioneers.

Nothing But Upsets

From here on in, any Kingston win over the contenders will be classed as an upset. The Maroons' prime aim now is to finish at least .500.

Kingston will have a distinct manpower advantage over Poughkeepsie from the last time they met. The Maroons were without Tony Grimaldi while the Pioneers were at full strength with Stu Sonne and Ronnie Jones in the lineup. Sonne, who was the club's leading scorer, and Jones are no longer eligible, being January graduates.

Nelson Still Around

But still on hand are Lee J. Nelson, Deke Johnson and Don Longobardi. Nelson can be remembered as the hero of Poughkeepsie's heart-stopping 67-66 overtime win in the opening game of the year at the field house. The veteran forward won the game in dramatic fashion with a brace of free throws after time had run out.

Coach Sam J. Kalloch got through his first game minus his graduated stalwarts in fine fashion, defeating Ellenville by nine points in the first game at the new gym. Alan Smith, Jones' replacement, played a big role in the win, but Longobardi was the key figure. He picked up where Sonne left off by scoring 27 points as PHS rolled to its seventh DUSO win in eight starts.

Maroon Lineup Same

Kalloch is still searching for a fifth starter to go with Longobardi, Nelson, Johnson and Smith. He used chunky Ronnie Levine to open the game but then switched to several other boy's The team's only weak link appears to be lack of depth.

Coach Jack Gilligan of Kingston will undoubtedly go with the same starting five that has carried KHS to three wins in its last four starts. Grimaldi will be at center, with Larry Johson and Bob Smith in forcourt and Bob Strong and George Uhl in backcourt.

Smith's play was the only bright spot in the Middies' game for Kingston. He went over the 20 scoring mark for the fourth time this season and now has scored in double figures in all but two of his team's 10 games.

Washington Feud Nears Showdown

Washington, Jan. 31 (AP)—Owners of the Washington Senators meet today for what shapes up as the showdown in a feud between Calvin Griffith, president of the American League team, and H. Gabriel Murphy, its largest single stockholder.

Murphy is threatened with a move to shove him off the Senators' board of directors. This also would eliminate him as club treasurer, a job paying $20,000 a year.

Murphy, an insurance man, holds about 40 per cent of the stock in the Senators. But the Griffith family controls 52 per cent of the shares—and thus is in position to decide who will serve on the board and in club executive posts.

Latest reports were that some sort of compromise would be hammered out. These reports were based on indications that Murphy himself would take the offensive when stockholders convene for their annual meeting.

Murphy said he had retained lawyers to protect his interests "as a stockholder, fan and director."

Hawks Stymie Ranger Jinx

By The Associated Press

Nothing lasts forever, the Chicago Blackhawks of the National Hockey League are glad to report.

It looked like the New York Rangers' domination of the Hawks just might go on and on. However, in last night's lone league game, the Hawks turned on their tormentors, crushing New York 7-2 for their first victory over the Rangers in 10 tries.

For the Hawks, league doormats with only 10 victories, revenge was tasty. The defeat cost the Rangers a chance to move past idle Toronto into fourth place in the league standings.

Johnny Wilson was the ringleader in the Chicago rebellion, pumping three tallies past Ranger goalie Gump Worsley. Nick Mikoski added two goals to the Chicago cause while Ed Litzenberger and Jack McIntyre contributed one each.

Quarryville returned to first place in the Saugerties Dartball League this week with a 2-0 win over Centerville Fire Company. The Glasco A's 2 to 1 defeat at the hands of first place Cedar Grove dropped the Glasco dartmen into second place.

Other scores were West Camp 2, Service Center A's 1; Ruby 2, Glasco AC 1; Mt. Marion 2 Cementon 1; Katsbaan 2, Service Center B's 1 and Centerville 2, Veteran 1. Trinity was not scheduled.

Royals Headed For Cincinnati

(By The Associated Press)

The National Basketball Association's longest streak of the season, one that the Rochester Royals would as soon forget, is still intact today but another which made the Boston Celtics the scourge of the Eastern Division is at an end.

The Royals, who could well wind up in Cincinnati, went down to their 11th straight defeat last night when they lost to the New York Knickerbockers 92-80 in the first game of a doubleheader at Boston. Then the Celtics, who had won eight straight and opened up a big lead in their division, were whipped 119-116 by the fourth place Syracuse Nationals.

Whether the Royals will shift to Cincinnati may be decided at a conference today between General Manager Les Harrison and Robert L. Siegel, an attorney seeking an NBA franchise for Cincinnati.

Cincinnati civic leaders have been conducting a campaign to raise $200,000 to underwrite an NBA franchise. Siegel said his group already has raised $125,000.

Marlboro Also To See Action In County Loop

Saugerties High starts the second half of the season pursuit of league-leading Rondout Valley Central Friday at home with Wallkill Central in one of three games on the UCAL schedule.

Marlboro (2-4) plays at New Paltz (0-5) and Highland (2-4) is at Onteora (5-2) in other attractions. Rondout Valley is idle.

The Sawyers are 5-1 and in second place, a full game behind the undefeated pace-setters. It appears unlikely that they can catch the Kerhonkson powerhouse before the clubs clash head-on Feb. 11 at Saugerties.

Rondout Valley has only one UCAL game before the showdown and that's against Marlboro which it defeated handily on the road in the first meeting. Saugerties, meanwhile, faces weak New Paltz after Wallkill.

Onteora in Race

Onteora still has a good chance in the race, although it lost its two decisions to the leaders. The Indians road is much rougher because they have to meet Rondout Valley on the latter's floor.

The other four clubs are out of contention. Highland and Marlboro are currently engaged in a dog-fight for fourth place, while Wallkill and New Paltz are scrambling to escape the cellar.

Saugerties' start will be its first in exactly two weeks. Mid-year examinations and the postponement of a game with Highland caused the inactivity. Against all opponents, the Sawyers hold a creditable 9-2 record.

Overall records of the rest of the UCAL teams are as follows: Rondout Valley (11-0); Onteora (8-2); Highland (3-6); Marlboro (3-7); Wallkill (2-7) and New Paltz (0-10).

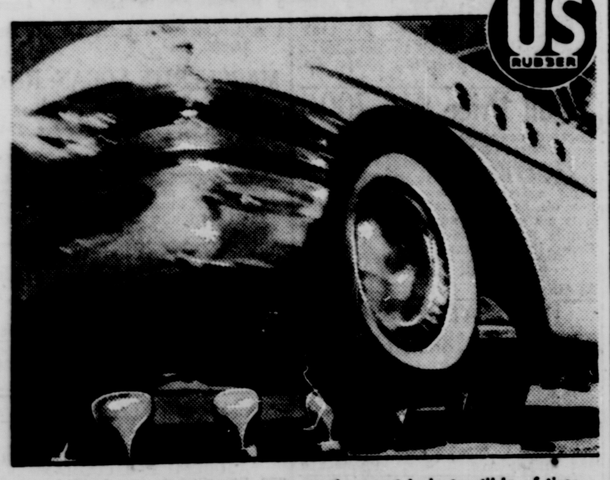

Rookies in Overtime

Rookies Tavern nipped Pheasant Inn in an overtime shuffleboard match, 6-5. Andy Polyzyk and Al J. Oster combined for the deciding point. A return match is scheduled Sunday at Rookies Tavern.

Marshall Ridicules 'Improper Expenses'

Washington, Jan. 31 (AP)—George Preston Marshall, president of the Washington Redskins, has described as "ludicrous" charges by sportscaster Harry Wismer that club funds were "improperly expended" for Marshall's personal expenses.

Wismer, a minority stockholder, filed suit in Federal District Court yesterday asking that Marshall be ordered to restore to the Redskins "all sums improperly expended . . . including sums expended for the personal living expenses" of Marshall.

He estimated these totaled up to about $500,000 over a period of years.

LOOK! NEW FORD TRUCKS for '57

The Ranchero! More than a car, more than a truck—it's a completely new kind of vehicle. A real pack horse that handles more than half a ton.

Totally new Tilt Cabs! America's lowest-priced,* most modern Tilt Cab line. Six complete new Series, up to 60,000-lb. GCW.

New pickup with Styleside body, standard at no extra cost, gives you stunning style and the biggest capacity of any half-tonner. Available in 6½- and 8-ft. body lengths.

LOOK again!

They're modern through and through

The boldly modern styling you see in the new Ford trucks for '57 just hints at how deep-down modern they really are!

The beautiful new Ford Ranchero rides, handles and looks like a modern car. Deep down it's a rugged truck—carries over half a ton, more than many standard pickups. Ford's all-new Tilt Cab Series brings a new kind of modern design to the big-truck field. It's America's lowest-priced* Tilt Cab line.

New Ford pickups back up their sleek modern styling with higher power, completely new cabs, a new kind of pickup ride. Styleside bodies are biggest of any pickup.

The three trucks shown here give you just an idea of the sweeping changes in the new Ford line for '57—ranging up to tandems with 65,000-lb. GCW. See your Ford Dealer for complete details on the truck to fit your job.

*Based on a comparison of factory-suggested list prices

NEW* cabs—completely new—stronger, roomier, smarter! New wider full-wrap windshield. New inboard cab step, new Hi-Dri ventilation.

NEW* hydraulic clutch standard in all models, pickups to tandems. Easier to operate—works like hydraulic brake. Clutch and brake pedals are modern suspended type!

NEW* Styleside pickup bodies, standard at no extra cost. America's biggest pickup bodies! Side loading's far easier with full-width body.

NEW* riding comfort! Big roomy cabs, new chassis suspension, and increased visibility combine to greatly improve riding and handling ease.

NEW* chassis strength! New frames, up to 13% stronger. New sturdier front and rear axles! New higher capacity springs!

NEW* power advances! Higher horsepower, freer breathing, higher compression ratios, new Super-Filter air cleaner. Short Stroke engine design—V-8 or Six, in every model!

Sixth Straight for Mirons

Lumberjacks Top VFW Five, 49-31 In Over 30 Loop

Pressed in only two periods, the Miron Lumberjacks trounced the VFW, 49-31, last night for their sixth straight victory in the Over 30 basketball league.

In the second half of a well-played doubleheader, the Lawyers edged Hercules, 36-31.

Ahead 13-12 at the quarter mark, Mirons opened up a 24-16 margin at the half and finished off with an 18-4 bulge in the last period.

Willumsen Scores 16

Ted Willumsen led Mirons with 16 points and Jim Baker drilled 12. Bob Slover (9) and Vince Peck (8) topped the Veterans.

The Lawyers trailed Hercules, 8-7, at the quarter but picked up seven points over the next two periods.

C. Shultz bucketed 10 points and Hubert Richter hit nine for the barristers. B. Garrison (10) and J. Brennan (9) led the Powdermen.

Harry Grayson's SCOREBOARD

Georges Carpentier is 63 now. He fought last here is 1926. He was over for a brief visit in conjunction with countryman Marcel Cerdan's middleweight title bout with Tony Zale in 1948.

He would be, you figured, an obscure guy around town this trip, the kind of fellow you'd have to steer up old-timers' alley for any sort of reception.

But that was before still-handsome, sharp-featured Georges stepped down from a plane at Idlewild Airport and with his pretty wife on his arm promptly swung around New York—and stopped the show wherever he went.

* * *

A TOUR WITH CARPENTIER made an outright liar of the calendar. For this wasn't a 63-year-old former fighter. At Leone's or Toots Shor's or Tony Canzoneri's or Gallagher's or wherever he went, this was still the Orchid Man, the gay, glamorous Frenchman who drew $1,626,580 into Boyle's Thirty Acres across the river in Jersey for his bout with Jack Dempsey in 1921.

Everybody knew him. The big table and the big fuss at Shor's was over Carpentier. Word spread around town and old fighters, guys who hang around the business and the curious started assembling wherever Georges went.

For him, it was fun. And for those who make a study of the play world of sports, it is a fine lesson in the thing we've come to call the magic touch of Jack Dempsey.

The average person remembers Carpentier as the Frenchman Dempsey knocked out in four rounds. Carpentier, everybody seems to know—whether they were at the fight or not even old enough to know of it—caught Dempsey with a classic straight right hand in the second round and wobbled the champ.

* * *

THEY DON'T REMEMBER that Georges was a remarkable middleweight, who was a pro at 13 and at 18 was meeting them all, including Billy Papke and Frank Klaus.

No, Carpentier is strictly the Frenchman Dempsey flattened in four. The fight was 36 years ago, too.

The question before the house now is, of course, how many will be able to tell you who Rocky Marciano knocked out in his only international-flavored title defense? Fact, how many today know who it was?

Well, the gentleman was Don Cockell of England and size-wise he was a better contender than Carpentier. Cockell at least had some weight to him. Perhaps a bit too much, but he was not the 168 Carpentier weighed getting into the ring with Jack.

Carpentier was brought over here this trip by some television people and before he left Hollywood he impressed enough directors with his demeanor that the "Lives and Loves of Georges Carpentier" is scheduled to be a movie. He also picked up three offers for appearances in Canada.

* * *

"THE PUNCHER," Georges noted, "They always remember the one who punches."

Because of this, he was puzzled that Marciano never seemed to get the magic name, never seemed to catch on outside of the ring.

Perhaps, somebody said, Rocky should have gone out and been flattened by Dempsey.

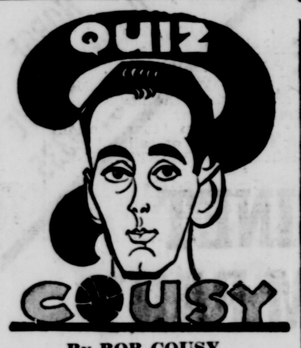

While dealing in that grand old nostalgia, Carpentier produced the highlight of the evening, to most minds, when he recalled his purse for the Dempsey bout.

"I received $255,000 for my end. I paid income taxes of $9,000 on it. And I wasn't cheating."

All of a sudden it was even more fun to talk of the 1920's.

Kentucky, Duquesne Eye Tourney Berths

By BOB COUSY
Written for NEA Service

Question: A player, dribbling down court, loses control of the ball and kicks it. He chases after it, regains control and continues. Is this legal?—Bob Ryerman.

Answer: Yes, as long as the kick is ruled unintentional.

Q. What is the highest score ever rolled up by any team in high school, college or professional basketball? Who scored the most individual points? — Jess Allred.

A. That would probably be little Rio Grande of southern Ohio with Bevo Francis. The exact count? That's debatable. The National Collegiate Athletic Association threw out the school's records, but Francis was supposed to have scored 116 points one night.

Q. Rebounding, many players go up, get the ball, then come down with elbows spread wide and body swiveling to keep others away. Can't this be called a foul? —Chris Doyle.

A. Unless flagrant, no. This is a normal rebounding method.

Dayton Flyers Also Have That Feeling

By The Associated Press

Why, by gosh, it's just like old times in college basketball.

Kentucky's back marching through Georgia to Baron Adolph Rupp's watchful cadence. Dayton's winning and so is Duquesne. Must be tournament time's drawing near.

Eeither that or the fact those "young pup" North Carolina Tar Heels are finished with a two-week layoff for exams and renewing their push for the national title.

Any season without Kentucky heading for the NCAA tournament and Dayton and Duquesne pointing for that big one of the NIT is an unusual one indeed. Last night, all three acted as if the first half of its season was a mistake and it was time to get back to normal.

Revenge In Georgia

Kentucky, whipped both at home and on the road by unsung Georgia two season back and red-necked about it since, barreled through the Bulldogs, 84-53 to take over the top rung in the Southeastern Conference. Dayton, off to its poorest start in years, continued a promising comeback to spill DePaul, 75-58—handily beating a team it lost to by eight points six weeks ago. Duquesne, gradually finding its way back to respectability, turned back St. Francis of Brooklyn and—shades of more prosperous seasons—even had a Ricketts in a starring role.

Each happened to coincide with the reappearance of North Carolina top-ranked nationally in the Associated Press poll and probably the team to beat when the post-season carnivals come around in another month or so.

Hot First Half

No effects from the long layoff or a 300-mile bus trip through the mountains to Cullowhee, N. C. were evident as the Tar Heels blasted Western Carolina, 77-59, for their 16th straight victory.

Tar Heel ace Lennie Rosenbluth scored 24 points in the first half, then left the other fellows do the shooting as the powerful Atlantic Coast Conference leaders helped their small school foes dedicate a new gymnasium. Len finished with 26 points for scoring honors.

Kentucky, fourth-ranked nationally but erratic so far, got 22 points from Johnny Cox and 20 from Adrian Smith in moving a half game in front of Auburn in the SEC race. Dayton, with Carmen Riazzi and Al Sicking shooting well, used a 12-point burst midway in the second half to quiet DePaul and Dave Ricketts, brother of former All-America Dick, set a collegiate record for consecutive free throws—40—in Duquesne's victory over St. Francis.

'Space' Program Held by Pack 19

Men from Mars, rocket ships, and jet airplanes were presented through the medium of humorous skits at the monthly pack meetings of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Cub Pack 19, held this week.

In addition to grotesque figures in elaborate "space helmets" five new Cub Scouts joined Pack 19 with a Bobcat ceremony, and a new den chief, Fred Keane of Troop 19, was added to the pack staff.

Dens 2 and 6 conducted the opening flag ceremonies, while Dens 2 and 5 served refreshments.

Coming Events

Coming events discussed for Cub Pack 19's program included the annual Blue and Gold banquet at the Elks Club on Fair street on February 27, the Scout Week window display in the Union Fern window at 322 Wall street beginning February 2, and a roast beef dinner sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars at 552 Delaware avenue on Saturday evening, February 16, for the benefit of the pack treasury. This dinner is open to the public with tickets available at the Veterans of Foreign Wars home or from representatives of Pack 19.

Den advancements for the month were:

Den 1, Betty Eighmey, den mother: Bobcat pins to Frederick Koeppen and Allan Coddington; silver arrows to Joseph Romano, Carl Schleede, Brian Elmendorf;

Den 2, Lucille Bonomo, den mother: silver arrows to John Fisk, Robert Lacey and William Boyd; denner stripe to John Rice; assistant denner stripe to William Boyd;

Den 3, Beatrice Connelly, den mother: silver arrows to Michael Bonomo, Ronald Rittie, Glenn Connelly, and Edward Hoffman.

Other Advancements

Den 4, Nancy Wells, den mother, (100 per cent awards): Wolf badges to Edward Collins and Michael Fabiano; gold arrows to Ronald McElrath, David Byrne and Michael Fabiano; silver arrows to Raymond Mino, David Oakley, Thomas Oakley and John Schomer;

Den 5, Marion Sahloff, den mother: Bobcat and wolf badge to Charles Stopczynski; gold arrows to John Quick and Edward Bennett; silver arrows to Wayne Edge, Stephen Keane and John Keane;

Den 6, Jean Long, den mother: Bobcat pins to John Frasch and John Viano; silver arrows to Leslie Nickerson, George Long Jr., and George Barnes; denner stripe to Leslie Nickerson; assistant denner stripe to Joseph Curlin.

Rancher Defies U. S. Order to Quit Missile Area

Orogrande, N. M., Jan. 31 (AP) —A rugged 82-year-old John Prather shrugged off the news that he had been ordered to vacate his home on the edge of a vast military firing range.

"A man has got a right to die at the home he spent his life building, and that's what I'm going to do."

March 1 Deadline

The military and the U. S. attorney have directed the land be vacated by March 1. The home buildings and heart of the ranch are 1½ miles inside the east border of the huge new McGregor guided missile range in south-central New Mexico.

Ten other ranchers beside Prather have been ordered off the range. Prather has eight sections of good grassland inside the range and many more outside. That inside is the lush section, fed by underground water.

Informed of the order, Prather asked:

Questions Year

"Did that feller say March 1st of what year?"

Told it was this year, he grinned and said, "I don't believe I'm going to make it. I've decided to finish out my first 100 years and go ahead and live another hundred to beat these people."

He said in spite of years of drouth around him, he has never had to feed a single head of stock "and I've never taken any of that G— D— government feed either."

"Why, you just don't put a man out of his home. I know we have to have an army, because I used to sell remounts to it.

Held for Bus Theft

New York, Jan. 31 (AP) — An 18-year-old apprentice seaman, who allegedly stole a bus from a Manhattan parking lot yesterday, was taken into custody at nearby Port Chester early today after the bus crashed into a gas station pump, police here reported. The sailor was identified by police as Ollis Wilson, a Negro, AWOL more than a month from the U. S. Naval Station at Newport, R. I. "I just wanted to take a ride," he was quoted as saying. "I didn't have the gas (tank) keys so I couldn't get gas. I figured I'd run it until it stopped."

Killed in Explosion

Welland, Ont., Jan. 31 (AP) — One man was dead and two were in critical condition today with burns over more than 90 per cent of their bodies after a furnace explosion at a Welland factory. Four other men suffered severe burns in the blast at the Electro Metallurical Co. Division of Union Carbide of Canada Ltd.

Boy, 10, Questioned On Taking Checks

A 10-year-old Catskill boy, who had been playing "hookey" from school, has been apprehended by Catskill police who charge the lad stayed from school to dip his hands in the town collector's mail box.

Police say they recovered about $2,000 in checks from a hollow tree stump and a hole in the ground, only a short distance from the tax collector's home.

Mrs. Blanche Krier, collector, told police she rarely receives more than one or two tax payments in cash by mail, and those were usually small ones.

The lad will appear in Children's Court.

Saugerties Polio Mother's March Results at $1,535

A total of $1,535 was contributed in Saugerties Wednesday night in the annual Mother's March on Polio, according to John W. Davis, town chairman.

This is $4 more than last year's total of $1,531 netted in the one day canvass of the town and village, Mr. Davis said. However five sections of the township failed to return reports last night at March of Dimes headquarters at the Legion Home on John street.

Other Reports Expected

These reports are expected some time today as many of the outlying areas are canvassing during the day. Nearly 100 women served as canvassers under the chairmanship of Mrs. William Schaffer. The drive was spearheaded by the Auxiliary of Lamouree-Hackett Post 72, American Legion.

Last year's over-all total for the Saugerties township was $2,800 and with the increase shown by the Mother's March last night a new record is anticipated, Mr. Davis said.

Last week the Blue Crutch drive conducted by Ki-Num-Ka Camp Fire Girls unit of Saugerties Reformed Church collected $60. Large sums are expected in dime folder returns mailed to area residents and the store canisters which will be collected next week, Mr. Davis said.

Cypriot Writer Accused

Nicosia, Cyprus, Jan. 31 (AP)—Police claim that a 22-year-old Greek Cypriot journalist, now under arrest, was the trigger man in most of Nicosia's recent "murder mile" killings. The young man, Nicos Samson, was taken into custody at Dhali, 12 miles southwest of Nicosia. Police said they found a Sten gun and ammunition in his possession. Emergency regulations now in effect on Cyprus prescribe the death penalty for illegal possession of arms.

Cairo Press Hits Wagner OnSaudSnub

Cairo, Egypt, Jan. 31 (AP)—Two Cairo morning newspapers, sharply criticized New York city's Mayor Wagner today for his snub of King Saud.

Editor Anwar el Sadat of Al Gumhuria said he was unable to find words to "describe the attitude of a man occupying such a position openly committing an act contrary to the rudiments of common courtesy and decent behavior besides being a demonstration in America in favor of Zionism by an American citizen carrying out public functions."

Editor Ahmen el Sawy Mohammed of Al Ahram said Wagner is a "hired Israeli and Zionist." He said Wagner's actions showed he "is an obedient servant of Israel." Sadat also said a segment of the American press exerts efforts to defend "Israeli aggression."

"It would be catastrophic if the American press and the mayor of New York really represented American public opinion," Sadat wrote.

Ulster Hose '57 Officers Elected

Robert Pardee was elected fire chief and Lester Elmendorf president of Ulster Hose Co. No. 1 at an election of officers held at Tuesday's meeting.

Other officers elected are Clayton Elmendorf, first lieutenant; Jack Connell, second lieutenant; Carmelo Dragotta, vice president; Chester Androvich, secretary; Gus Cunavales, treasurer and Dr. Gerald Sumber, trustee for three years.

Plans for the new firehouse, now under construction, and sponsorship of a cub pack by the fire company were discussed.

Retired Employes Sought by Ulster County CS Group

Retired Civil Service employes are urged to join Ulster County Chapter 461, National Association of Retired Federal Employes, in an appeal today by officials of the chapter.

It was announced that a regular meeting of the association would be held at the YWCA, 209 Clinton avenue, at 2 p. m. Saturday, Feb. 9.

William Cipolli Sr., publicity officer, issued the following statement on behalf of the association:

Desire Local Affiliation

"We are again urging everyone who is a retired Civil Service employe to join our chapter in this area. No doubt there are many that belong to the national body but that is not enough. They in Washington want all the members to affiliate with chapters in their locality.

"Now we do know approximately how many there are in this area, but what we do not know and would like to know is why they do not join up with us. How many know that the railroad workers received a 30 per cent increase in their pension last year. This was achieved by full cooperation of local chapters. There is now on the agenda a similar increase for us but unless we can roster full support it may be lost.

Ate 'Short Change'

"When we who are retired paid into this fund, a dollar was a dollar. They are now paying us back 48 cents for this dollar, quite a short change. There are six billion dollars in this fund. Why should we not get what we paid for, especially in these times when the cost of living is going up. Yes, we have men and women who are supposed to represent us, but the question is, do they, unless they are almost pushed to do it at times, and only when convenient to themselves?

"This is a non-partisan organization and we do not take active part in such work, except to remind our representatives that we are fully aware of their doings, and the only way we can keep them on their toes, giving our Washington office something to fight about, and at the same time let our lawmakers know that we are awake.

"In conclusion, once again we urge all in this area to join us. We have the ball rolling for a goodly increase. Let us keep it going."

Local Man Faces Immigration Charge

Alexandres Dimitras Pantos, 23, who gave his address as 193 Clinton avenue, was arrested last night for having allegedly entered the United States illegally.

A police report at 9 p. m., said that Pantos was picked up by officers Leonard Ellsworth and William Slover and turned over to inspectors Randolph Cox and Donald Gerrish, of the U. S. Immigration Service.

Authorities said that Pantos, had been picked up once before in New York and was supposed to have returned to Greece. Instead he remained in this country and was believed to have been in the Kingston area for nearly a year. He had been employed as a dishwasher in a restaurant on Route 28, police said.
